

JUNE (FIRST) 2026 | ₹ 65

CHAMPAK

MEMORY

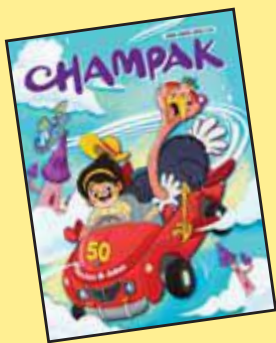

Observe the image and answer the questions.

Q1. How many rabbits are in the picture?

Q2. What colour is the dog's jacket?

Q3. Which animal is in the tree?

An adventure is like a rollercoaster, whether it is learning to ride the bicycle, challenging your friends with puzzles, or travelling to a new place. What will your next adventure be?

Editor, Publisher & Printer: Paresh Nath

Editorial, Advertisement & Publication Office:

Delhi Press, E-8, Jhandewala Estate, Rani Jhansi Road, New Delhi-110055. Phone: 41398888

For subscription contact:

subscription@delhipress.in

Subscription should be remitted through money orders/bank drafts and cheques drawn in favour of Delhi Prakashan Vitran Pvt. Ltd., E-8 Jhandewalan Estate, Rani Jhansi Road, New Delhi-110055.

Ph.: 011-41398888 Extn. 119

Mob./Sms/Whatsapp: 08588843408

Send us your stories, poems, drawings and crafts at writetochampak@delhipress.in or WhatsApp us at 7042531377

Send invitations and press releases at: invites.pressrelease@delhipress.biz

Write to the editor at:

champak.editor@delhipress.in

@champakmagazine

ChampakMagazine

@ChampakWorld

Ahmedabad: 9824077586, 079-26577845

Bangalore: 9900024662, 99017 73546, 080-42013076

Bhopal: 8878051087, 0755-2759853

Chennai: 044-28413161/32994005/28554448

Jaipur: 9413460306, 0141-13618515

Kolkata: 9903382415, 033-40707193

Kochi: 0484-2371537

Lucknow: 9565009602, 0522 4045544

Mumbai: 9833151545, 022-24122661/43473050,

New Delhi: 8588843408, 011-41398888 Extn. 119

Patna: 9631576410, 0612-2323840

Secunderabad: 040-27896947/27841596

Printed & Published by Paresh Nath on behalf of Delhi Press Patra Prakashan Private Limited at E-8, Jhandewala Estate, New Delhi- 110055.
Printed by PSPC Press Private Limited, 50 DLF Industrial Area Phase 1, Faridabad, Haryana-121003.

This copy is sold on the condition that jurisdiction for all disputes concerning sale, subscription and published matter will be in courts/ forums/ tribunals at Delhi.

Title registered with Govt of India as trade mark. Cheeku feature is registered with the Government. Contents must not be reproduced in any manner without permission. The names of the characters used in all fiction and semi-fiction articles are fictitious. Self-addressed stamped envelopes must be enclosed with all manuscripts otherwise the rejected material will not be returned. Rates Inland: Single copy ` 65; 1 year ` 1656 in India.

CHAMPAK

JUNE (FIRST) 2026

NO. 1167

FOUNDER
VISHWA NATH
1917-2002

Storytime

A Splashy Adventure.....	4
The Great Bicycle Disaster.....	13
Trouble With Tricks.....	20
The Cartoonist.....	34
The Mystery of the Egg.....	43

Things To Do

Memory.....	2
Colour Me.....	8
Picnic Panic.....	9
Funtime.....	10
Zippping Zebra.....	12
Hidden Picture.....	17
Who Am I?.....	18
Puzzle Special.....	24-31
Complete the Picture.....	38
SmArt - Passport Cover.....	39
Dot to Dot.....	42
Spot the Difference.....	49
Answer Page.....	50
That's Not Right.....	51

Comics

Damru and Recharge.....	11
Cheeku.....	32
Dadaji and World Environment Day.....	40

Thinking

Sci-Q - The Secret Journey of Water!.....	19
Marvellous Aunt Maneka.....	47
From Young Readers.....	48

A Splashy Adventure

Sudha Vijay

“The scorching heat of the sun is making life difficult for us,” said Piku Hedgehog, fanning himself with some leaves.

He stood under the big banyan tree talking to Molly Mongoose on a hot sunny morning in Haritvan.

“I just want to stay inside my burrow the whole day to escape this heat,” groaned Molly.

Just then, they saw Mini Squirrel hopping excitedly from branch to branch.

“Well, at least someone seems to be happy,” said Piku, looking at Mini.

Molly could not resist, so she called out, “Hey Mini, what are you so happy about in this hot and sweaty weather?”

Mini smiled, “I am going for an adventure to a water park tomorrow.”

Piku looked surprised. “Water park? Adventure? Please tell us more.”

Mini came down from the tree and said, “You know, a new water park has opened in the jungle. There are slides, wave pools, family rides, water guns and so many exciting things to try. My cousin got me a ticket, and I plan to enjoy every moment at the water park.”

“The water park adventures sound very exciting,” Molly said.

“Let’s go!” Mini replied. “We can have fun together.”

“Water park, here we come!” shouted Piku, jumping high in the air.

Their close friends Bobo Rabbit and Tito Tortoise also heard about their plan.

“Adventure?” yawned Bobo, scratching his ears. “Does it involve snacks?”

“Yes!” said Molly, “And water!”

“It will be fun!” Tito said with a smile.

But there was one problem—he was slow, very slow. So, the next day, he decided to start at dawn, long before the others. Step by step, he made his way towards the park.

Soon, the five friends reached the famous Fun Jungle Water Park, laughing and chatting. At the gate, they saw Tito waiting for them.

“Tito has once again beat me in a race,” said Bobo, laughing.

They entered the park together and looked at the different fun rides, hoping to escape the scorching heat.

Piku looked very stylish with his new goggles. “Let’s start with the Twisty Splash Slide—the most exciting ride in the water park,” he said.

It was tall, shiny and curved like a giant snake.

“Remember to move aside quickly so that the next rider can land safely,” said Molly.

Tito stepped into the large slide carefully. “Wheeee ...” he shouted as he went very slowly down the slide.

Finally, he landed in the pool. Splash! But he could not move immediately.

Piku and the others were already coming down the slide and when they could finally see him, they cried, “Move fast!”

“Easier said than done!” murmured Tito.

Tito moved one arm, then another in a slow movement, but he could not move aside. Piku and the others came rushing down and hit Tito. They all crashed inside the pool and tumbled over one another.

Like dominos, his friends fell headfirst into the water.

Mini's tail was stuck under a tube.

Molly's ears were dripping over her eyes.

Piku spun in circles till he felt dizzy.

Bobo rolled like a fuzzy ball.

Molly found himself sitting atop Tito.

Pinny Pelican, the lifeguard, blew his whistle.

"Clear the pool, please!"

The friends glared at Tito as he looked embarrassed and whispered, "Sorry! I was a bit slow."

The friends then went to the biggest pool in the water park—the Splash Pool. It was a wide, shallow pool at the end of the tallest slide, where riders zoomed out and landed with a big, splashy finish.

"I want to go first," shouted Bobo.

"No, I'll go first this time," said Mini, jumping up and down.

Mini stood first in the queue with Molly standing second, then Piku, then Tito and finally Bobo after him.

"What fun!" squealed Mini as she pushed herself down the slide.

After her, one by one, they started sliding. When it was Tito's chance, he glided very slowly down the slide. However, Bobo was becoming restless. He soon followed, ignoring the sign that only one rider is allowed at a time. But halfway, he saw Tito still moving slowly down the slide.

"Traffic jam in the slide!" cried Bobo.

He tried to slow down but could not. Tito turned back and saw Bobo racing towards him. He quickly pulled his head, arms and legs inside his shell. Bobo bumped into his hard shell which bounced sideways and, like a rocket, flew off the slide into the air, almost missing the pool.

Bobo was still doing somersaults on the slide. Everyone giggled at the funny mess.

The friends slowly got out of the water, fully drenched.

“These slides are not for me,” Tito said, a little sad. “Let’s try something else, please!”

They decided to move away from the slides and go to the Splash Button Zone. The Splash Button Zone had a big red button, and when the buttons were pushed, a strong jet of water sprayed out.

“Press the button and run fast. It’s like a water prank,” laughed Molly.

One by one, the friends pressed the buttons and jumped aside to escape the water jet.

“I want to try, too,” said Tito.

He pressed the button.

“Hurry! Run!” shouted his friends.

It took a long time for him to turn around and run. The water jet hit him with full force, surprising him. He fell upside down.

It took all his friends to pull him up straight.

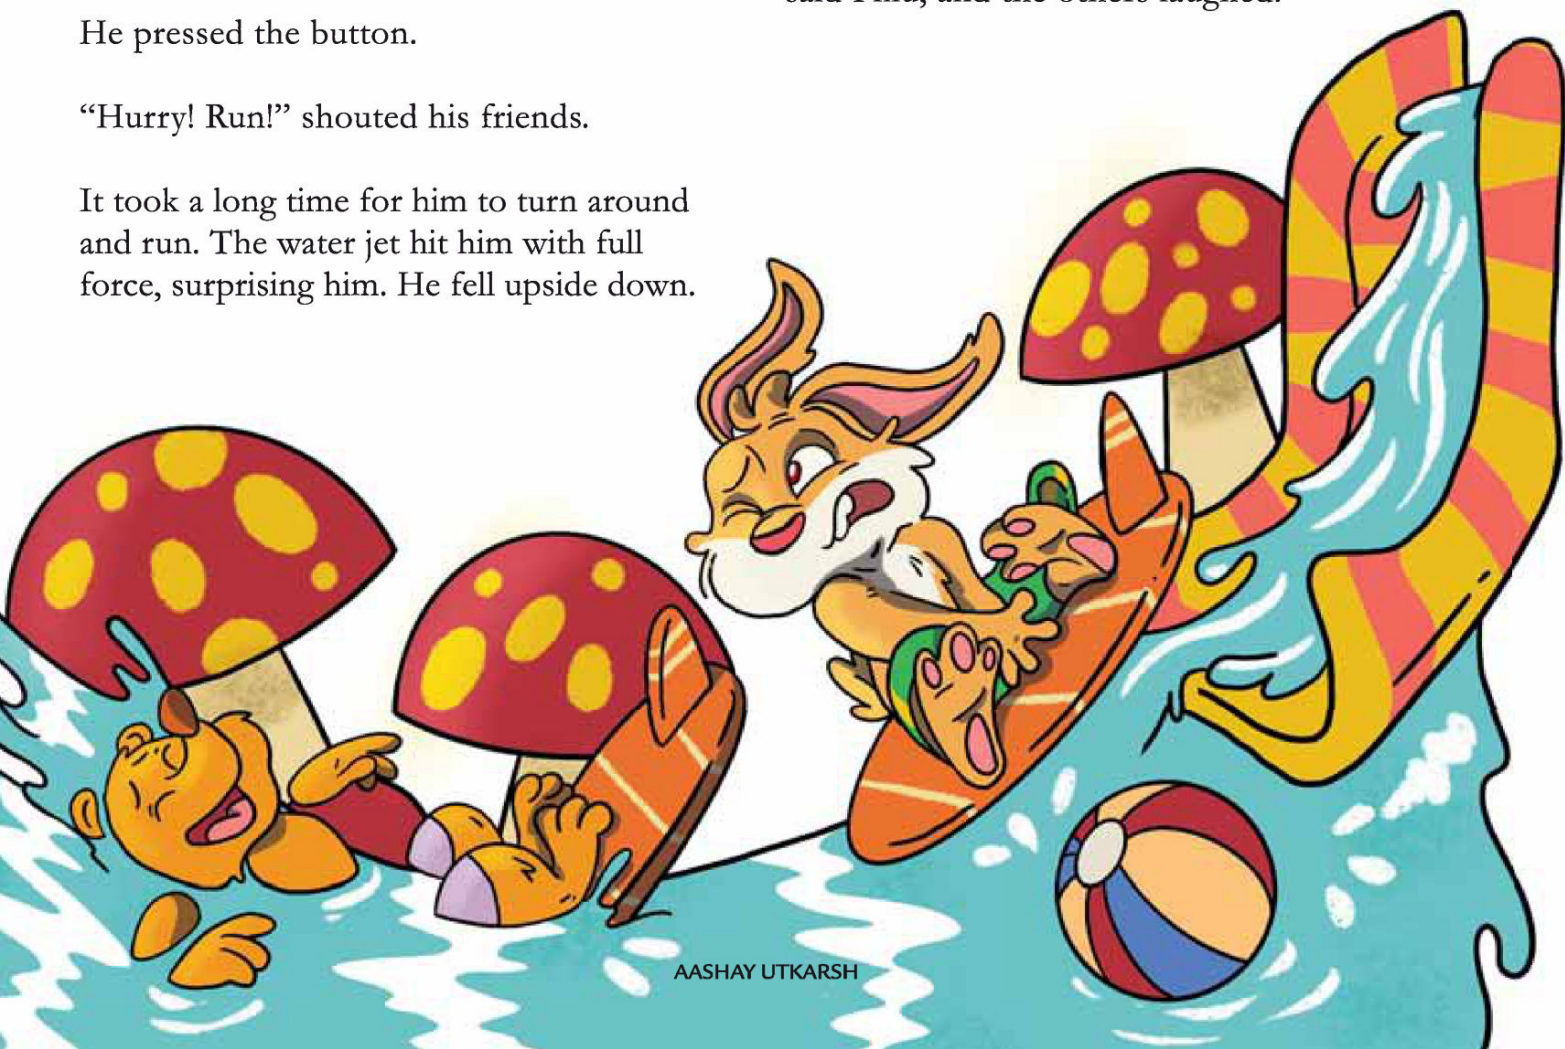

“These fast games are not for me either!” groaned Tito.

“So, what are you going to do?” asked Mini.

“I know what I want to do,” Tito said, smiling, and started walking away.

The other friends looked confused, but they went back to the water park rides. A little while later, as they waited in line to go down another water slide, they saw Tito lying on a float in the lazy river that ran around the water park, wearing goggles and sipping iced orange juice.

“Well, that’s a cool way to beat the heat,” said Piku, and the others laughed.

Colour Me

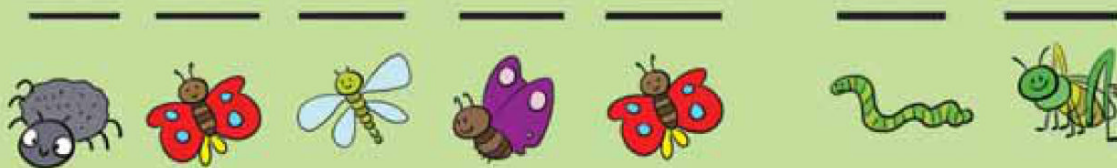

Picnic Panic

Some bugs have joined Sasha and her friends at the picnic. Use the key to figure out the message they have left for the group.

KEY
C=		M=		O=		S=		E=		L=
B=		V=		U=		A=		R=

Vagmi: Which party did the cats go to?

Mom: No idea!

Vagmi: The kitty party! (cat party)

Vagmi Chaturvedi

8 years, Gurgaon

Teacher: Why is your exam paper blank?

Student: Because I believe in clean work!

Hiya Chauhan

11 years, Ahmedabad

Q: What has hands but cannot clap?

A: A clock!

Ayansh Lohana

8 years, Indore

Hiya: Which bugs are the most mathematical?

Riya: Mosquitoes! They add to our fear, subtract our happiness, multiply rapidly and divide our attention.

Souriti Biswas

11 years, Kolkata

Atharva: Why did the teacher wear sunglasses to the classroom?

Maa: Why?

Atharva: Because his students were very bright!

Atharva A. Avidya

7 years, Bangalore

Gunnu: Which colour is not heavy?

Anna: I don't know.

Gunnu: Light blue!

Suryansh Choudhary

7 years, Noida

Megha: If a fly sits on butter, what does it become?

Vedha: A Butterfly!

Megha: And, if a dinosaur hangs from a tree?

Vedha: A huge tree?

Megha: No, the tree breaks!

Vedha Mishra

5 years, Noida

Gargi: Which food never comes on time?

Preesha: I don't know.

Gargi: Chocolate!

Gargi Kumar

8 years, Hyderabad

Rita: Which planet is good at music?

Sita: Nep-TUNE!

Sadhana R

7 years, Tiruchirappalli

Rusheel: What is the thing we buy to eat but never eat?

Siva: I don't know. What is it?

Rusheel: A plate!

Rusheel

10 years, Hyderabad

Ravi: If you are thirty and I am thirty-two, who is older?

Shreya: You are.

Ravi: No, we are the same age, because I am thirty too!

Kuldip Chaturvedi

11 years, Vadodara

Kavya: Why don't clouds ever get lost?

Friend: Why?

Kavya: Because they always go with the flow!

Kavya Zunjare

11 years, Australia

WhatsApp your jokes and riddles on 7042531377 or write to us at writetochampak@delhipress.in. You can also send your jokes and riddles to Champak, Delhi Press, 703, B Wing, INS Tower, Opp. Trident Hotel, G Block, BKC, Bandra (East) Mumbai-400 051.

Find us online at @champakmagazine

ChampakMagazine

@ChampakWorld

DAMRU AND RECHARGE

Shivesh Shrivastava

THIS TIME, DAMRU GOT A JOB AT JACQUELINE FOX'S HOUSE.

DAMRU, QUICKLY BRING MY ENERGY DRINK!

AFTER DRINKING THIS, I FEEL RECHARGED. LOOK, I JUST DRANK IT, AND MY LOST ENERGY IS COMING BACK!

MA'AM, WHY DO YOU DRINK THIS ENERGY DRINK?

The next day

OH! I UNDERSTAND, MA'AM!

DAMRU, PLEASE RECHARGE MY PHONE. I HAVE AN ONLINE MEETING LATER.

some time later

I AM LATE FOR MY MEETING. WHERE IS MY PHONE?

WAIT, WHO PUT MY PHONE IN THIS ENERGY DRINK?

MA'AM, I DID!

YOU TOLD ME TO RECHARGE YOUR PHONE, SO I WAS RECHARGING IT!

YOU SILLY DONKEY! PHONE RECHARGE IS DONE WITH MONEY ON AN APP!

BUT YESTERDAY, YOU WERE RECHARGING YOURSELF BY DRINKING IT, SO I THOUGHT I COULD RECHARGE YOUR PHONE THE SAME WAY.

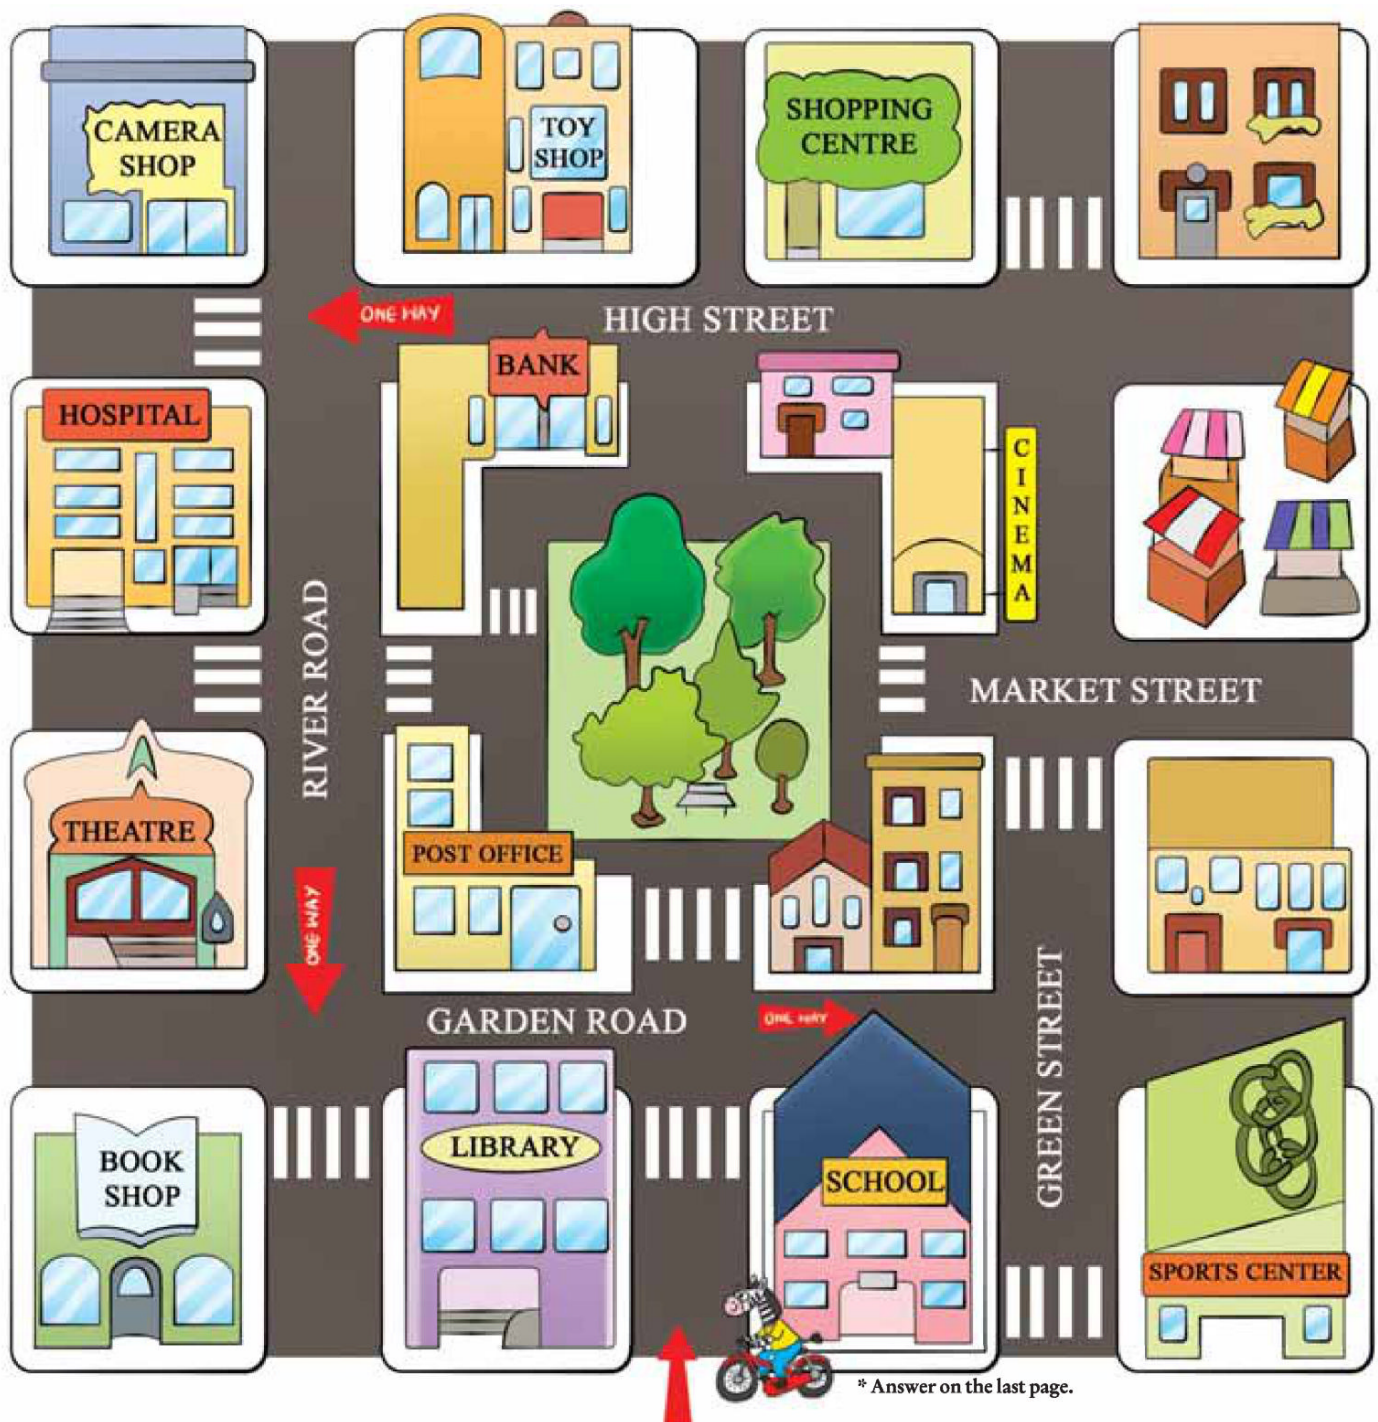

GET OUT BEFORE I 'DISCHARGE' YOU!

OH NO! MY EXPENSIVE PHONE IS RUINED BECAUSE OF YOU.

Zippering Zebra

Ziggy Zebra has errands to run for her party. Using the signs on the map, match each destination to the correct directions. Begin from Ziggy's starting point. When you reach a destination, it becomes the new starting point.

Destination	Direction
A. Cinema	1. Left onto High Street and opposite the bank
B. Toy Shop	2. Left onto Garden Road and right onto Green Street
C. Post Office	3. Right from the school, first left and cross Market Street
D. Sports Centre	4. Left onto River Road and second left

* Answer on the last page.

The Great Bicycle Disaster

Sakshi Sharma

The last week of summer vacation is a mix of sadness and excitement. Sad because holidays are ending, but happy because school and friends are waiting.

It is also when parents suddenly remember everything that was supposed to be done during the holidays and quickly try to finish it all. This is exactly what happened in Veda's house.

"Veda, you still don't know how to ride a bicycle?" her mother asked.

Veda had spent her entire summer doing very important work like watching cartoons, eating mangoes non-stop and perfecting the art of afternoon naps. Cycling? No time at all.

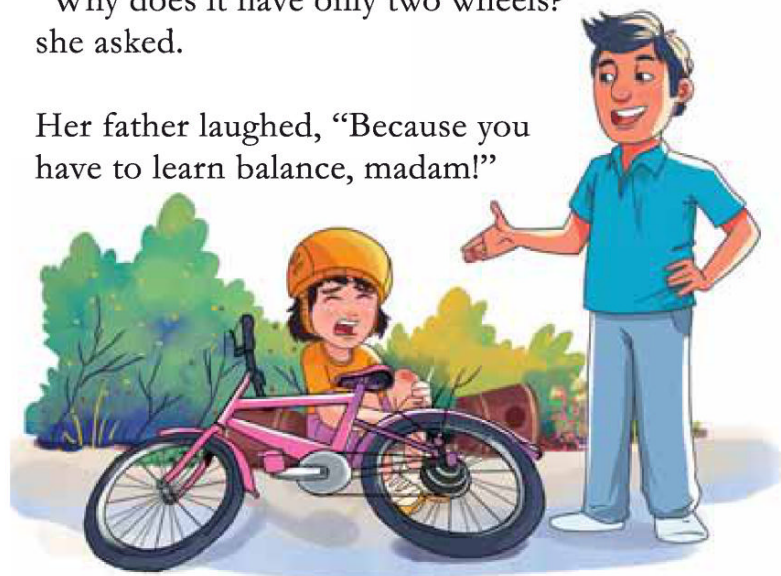

But one evening, as dark clouds gathered and the smell of rain filled the air, her mother announced, "Enough now! School is starting next week. Tomorrow, you will learn how to cycle."

The next morning, the mission began. The bicycle stood in the courtyard like a shiny red challenge. Veda walked around it slowly.

"Why does it have only two wheels?" she asked.

Her father laughed, "Because you have to learn balance, madam!"

This did not sound encouraging.

Meanwhile, her younger sister Meera sat on the steps, munching biscuits and giving expert advice. “Didi, don’t worry. If you fall, I’ll laugh softly.”

Veda gave her a look and climbed onto the bicycle. Immediately, everything went wrong. The handle went one way, the cycle went another way and Veda went somewhere else entirely.

“Aaaaa!” she shouted.

THUD. First fall.

Meera clapped. “Wow didi, full marks!”

Papa helped her up. “Balance, beta. Cycling is all about balance.”

Veda nodded seriously, as if she understood everything.

Attempt number two. This time, Papa held the back of the seat. “Pedal slowly,” he instructed.

Veda pedalled slowly. For three seconds, everything was perfect.

“I’m doing it!” she shouted happily.

At that exact moment, Papa let go. Big mistake. The bicycle started wobbling like jelly. It zigzagged, went straight towards a plant and ...

THUD. Second fall.

Veda sat in the bush, looking shocked.

“I think this cycle doesn’t like me,” she said. Meera nodded.

But Veda was not ready to give up. Mostly because Mummy was watching.

Attempt number three. This time, Veda decided to be brave, so she pedalled faster. Too fast.

“STOP! STOP! STOP!” she shouted.

But cycles don’t listen. She zoomed past the gate and onto the street. A dog barked loudly. Two pigeons flew away in panic.

And Veda ...

THUD. Third fall.

This one was a legendary fall. Even Meera stopped eating biscuits.

By now, the sky had turned grey, and cool winds began to blow. Soon, raindrops started falling.

Veda lay on the ground, staring up. “I think walking is enough for life. It is a very good skill we all have,” she said.

But then, something interesting happened. More children came outside. And guess what they were doing?

Cycling in the rain! Cycling with joy!

They splashed through puddles, laughing, racing and even falling. But every time they fell, they got up and laughed again. Veda watched carefully. They weren’t scared. They were just having fun.

Meera nudged her. “See didi, they also fall. In fact, they fall more than you!”

Veda blinked in surprise. This was new! She had never seen children fall and laugh about it.

Veda sat up slowly. “You mean falling is normal?”

Papa smiled. “Of course. That’s how everyone learns.”

Veda looked at the bicycle again, now in astonishment! Maybe it wasn’t her enemy now! Maybe it was just waiting for her to try again. She stood up, slightly confident! Rain soaked her hair, and mud covered her knees.

“One last try,” she said.

Attempt number four. This time, she didn’t overthink. She sat on the cycle, and Papa held the back.

“Pedal,” he said.

Veda pedalled. The rain made everything slippery, and her heart beat fast. But she didn’t panic.

“Very good! Look ahead,” Papa said.

She looked ahead. Not down. Not at her feet. Not anywhere, but AHEAD.

She kept going. And then, Papa let go. And the bicycle... didn’t fall. It moved forward. Straight. Steady.

Veda blinked. “I’m ... I’m doing it!”

She rode across the courtyard, out the gate, onto the street, and this time, there was no crashing. She avoided the dog and even waved proudly at Meera.

“Meeraaaaa! See!”

Meera jumped up. “Didi is not falling!”

This was a historic moment. Veda rode in circles, laughing as the rain splashed around her.

She wasn’t perfect. She wobbled. But she didn’t stop. And that was enough.

That evening, as the rain slowed and the sky turned golden, Veda parked her bicycle proudly.

From that day on, Veda had become a confident cyclist.

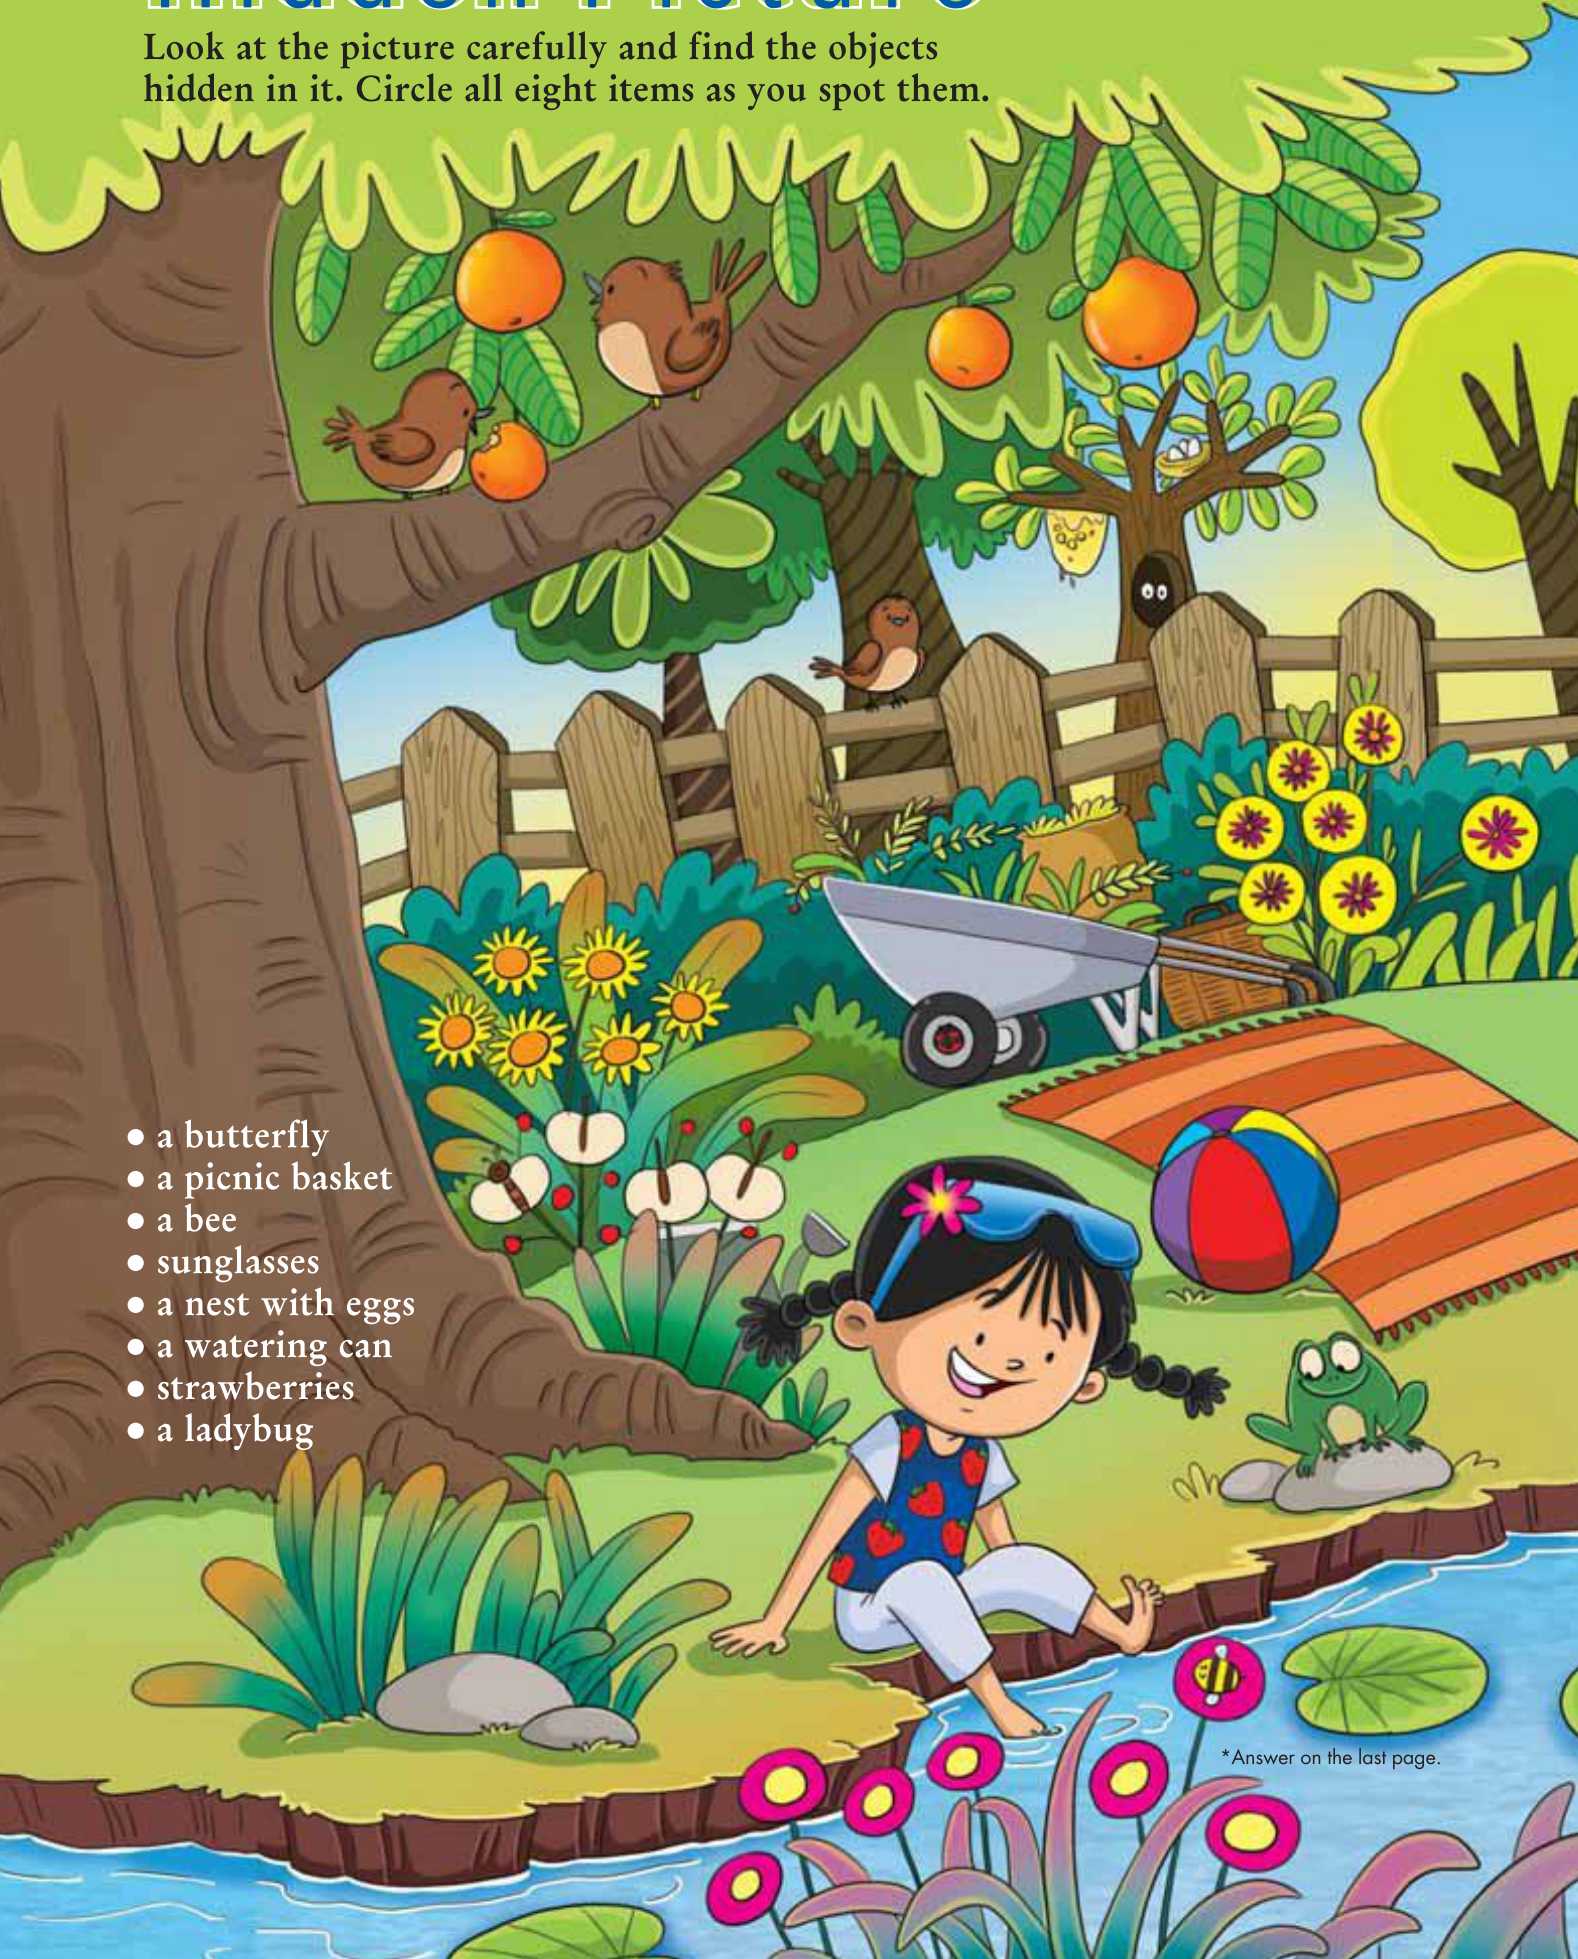

Well, almost.

Hidden Picture

Look at the picture carefully and find the objects hidden in it. Circle all eight items as you spot them.

- a butterfly
- a picnic basket
- a bee
- sunglasses
- a nest with eggs
- a watering can
- strawberries
- a ladybug

*Answer on the last page.

Who am I?

1. I look like a book.
I travel with you to new lands.
I have pages and stamps.
I help you cross borders.
Who am I?
2. I am small but very useful.
You keep me safe before a trip.
I help you enter trains or planes.
Without me, your trip may be cancelled.
Who am I?
3. I sit on your shoulders or back.
I carry your books or snacks.
I have straps and zips.
I go with you on many trips.
Who am I?
4. I help you see things far away.
I make birds and mountains look close.
You hold me up to your eyes.
I'm perfect for exploring.
Who am I?

4. Binoculars

1. Passport 2. Ticket 3. Backpack

Answers: Who am I?

How Much Do You Know?

1. How many dots appear on a pair of dice?
A) 42
B) 36
C) 48
D) 52
2. What is the term for the study of birds?
A) Zoology
B) Ecology
C) Ornithology
D) Botany
3. Which is the largest sea in the Indian Ocean?
A) Red Sea
B) Black Sea
C) Andaman Sea
D) Arabian Sea
4. When is World Environment Day celebrated?
A) June 10
B) June 5
C) June 20
D) June 2

1. A 2. C 3. D 4. B

Answers: How Much Do You Know?

The Secret Journey of Water!

Mix. Dip. Observe.

YOU WILL NEED

Fresh white flowers
Two transparent glasses
Food colours (blue and pink)

DO

1

In two glasses, mix different food colours with water and stir well.

2

Place one white flower in each glass.

3

Leave them overnight.

WATCH!
Your fresh flowers look colourful now!

WHY DID THE FLOWERS CHANGE COLOUR?

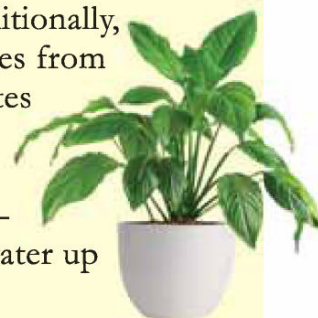

THINK ABOUT IT!

When fresh flowers are put into coloured water, they pull the water up through their stems into the petals. As it moves, the water carries the molecules of the food colour with it, making the petals change colour. This fascinating process of how plants drink water is called capillary action. Later, the water evaporates through tiny pores, but the dye stays inside the flower's tissue. Over time, more colour builds up, turning a plain white flower into bright blue, pink or yellow petals.

HOW DO PLANTS DRINK WATER?

LET'S FIND OUT!

Plants do not have mouths to drink water. Instead, they have tiny, straw-like tubes called xylem that pull water upwards from the roots to the leaves. Water molecules are sticky. They cling to the walls of these tubes and to each other. This stickiness allows water to climb up the plant. Additionally, as water evaporates from the leaves, it creates suction—much like sucking juice through a straw—that pulls more water up from the roots.

Trouble With Tricks

Sudha Vijay

In Champakvan, lived two good friends—Blacky Bear and Jumpy Monkey. They were inseparable. They did everything together, be it playing, sleeping or eating. The one thing they were not fond of was working.

All the forest animals, big or small, woke up early in the morning and were busy with their work. Nancy Squirrel was hopping up a tree gathering nuts. Dolly Deer was searching for fruits fallen from the tree, while Sparky Sparrow had flown far to find seeds.

Blacky stretched lazily and said the same thing every day: “Work is very tiring. One must be able to enjoy this life.”

“Rightly said, friend! Relaxing is so much fun,” Jumpy would add.

“But we need to do something about our hunger,” said Blacky.

One day, Jumbo Elephant was passing by with a bunch of bananas.

Jumpy winked at Blacky before he staggered and fell down dramatically.

Blacky cried, “Help! I think my friend has fainted in this hot sun because of hunger!”

Jumbo rushed to help Jumpy.

“Don’t worry about food!” Jumbo said. “Let me share some bananas from the bunch.” Blacky and Jumpy happily gobbled up bananas they got from Jumbo.

When Jumbo left, Jumpy asked, “So how was my acting?”

“Full marks,” Blacky replied. “Our stomachs are happy and full. Our hunger problem is solved. Let’s go play.”

The next day, while they were cycling, Blacky saw the beautiful garden of Gilly Goat, and he had an idea. Blacky wrapped a leaf around his leg and limped around.

Gilly, who was working in her garden, saw Blacky and asked with concern, “Blacky, how did you hurt your leg?”

“I slipped while helping Mr Owl pluck oranges from his farm,” Blacky replied with a sad face.

“That’s too bad!” Gilly said. “Have you eaten anything?”

Blacky shook his head. So, Gilly prepared sandwiches for him. She also handed him a basket full of fruits and said, “A small gift from my side.”

Blacky gleefully took the basket. Just then, Jumpy came cycling. Blacky ran and climbed on the back seat.

Gilly could only stare. “What about your legs?” she questioned.

Blacky grinned and said, “Thanks for your generosity.”

Gilly could only stomp in anger as Jumpy and Blacky sped away, munching on the sandwiches.

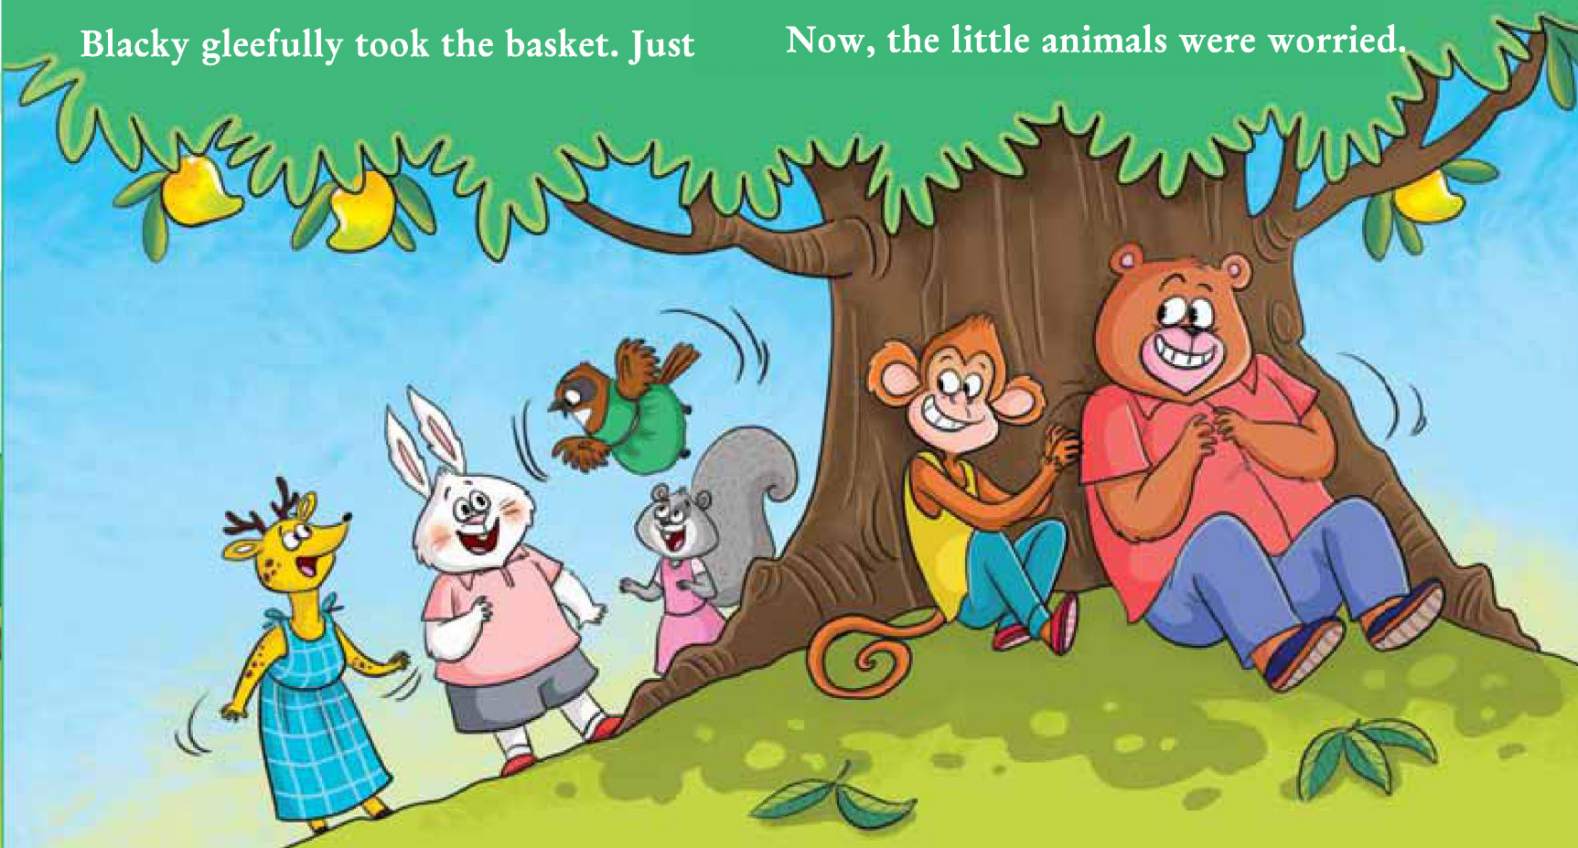

Another day, Blacky and Jumpy came down the hill huffing and puffing.

Blacky cried, “Hurry up! A huge storm is coming towards our forest.”

The animals were surprised and said, “There is no sign of a storm. You must be wrong.”

“We are just coming from the hilly area,” Jumpy said. “There are dark clouds and a huge storm is coming.”

Now, the little animals were worried.

Sparky Sparrow said, "My kids are alone in the nest. I need to go to them. Can you take these seeds and keep them safe?"

Jumpy smiled cheekily, "Sure! Always ready to help."

Nancy, too, had to build a new house, so she left some nuts in the care of Blacky and Jumpy.

Dolly also gave them a bag of fresh berries for their care. "I need to find my mother before the storm," she said to Blacky and hopped away.

As soon as the animals left, Jumpy and Blacky ate the seeds, nuts and berries. Many hours passed, but there was no storm. Sparky, Dolly and Nancy came back to get their things, but there was no sign of Jumpy or Blacky.

"Grrr! They always get away by tricking us," fumed Nancy.

"They must be taught a lesson," cried Sparky.

"Let me talk to my friend Cheeku. He may give us good advice," said Dolly.

So, they went to Cheeku and told him about how they had been tricked by Jumpy and Blacky.

"Hmmm," Cheeku said, twitching his ears. "These two are lazy but very clever."

"Will you help us?" Dolly asked again.

"Well, I have an idea," said Cheeku, and he whispered his idea to them. All of them were thrilled.

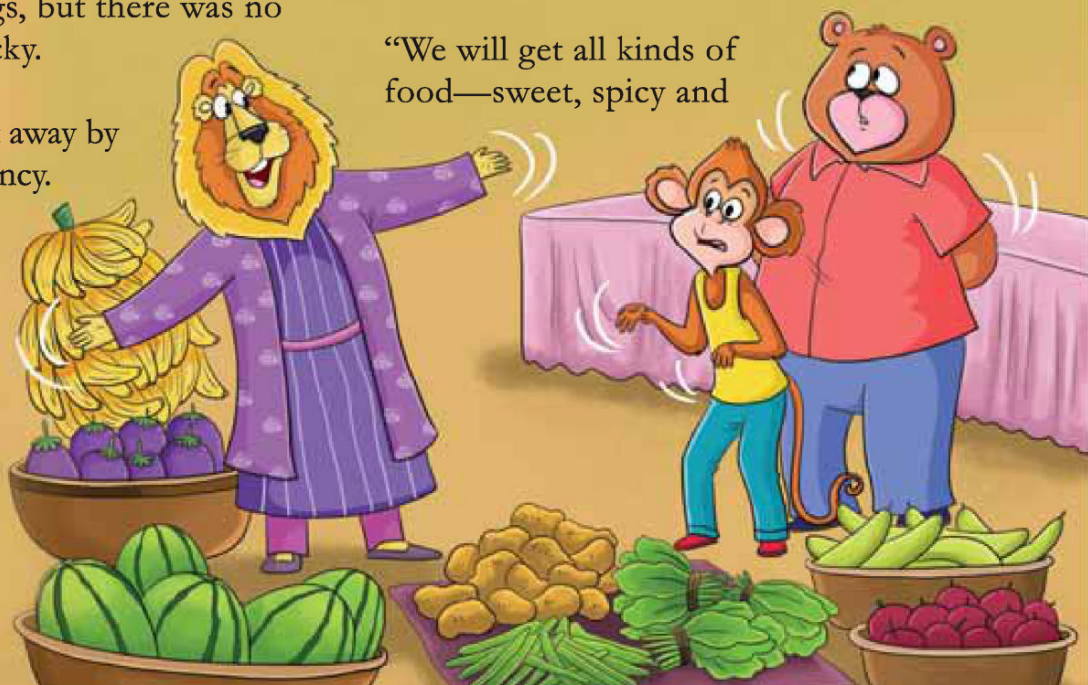

The next morning, Jumpy and Blacky were lazing under a big mango tree. Just then, Sparky flew by and spoke loudly to Cheeku, Nancy and Dolly.

"Did you hear the good news?" she asked.

"Yes," Dolly said, "I heard about the Grand Feast happening at King Shersingh Lion's house."

"A Grand Feast is organised for the King's birthday," said Cheeku.

"We will get all kinds of food—sweet, spicy and tangy,” said Nancy, licking her lips.

Jumpy and Blacky overheard the friends and clapped happily.

“Free food!” grinned Blacky.

At lightning speed, they reached King Shersingh’s palace. He welcomed Jumpy and Blacky and took them to the feast area. Both the friends were surprised to see that the feast was not yet ready.

“Thank you, my special helpers!” King Shersingh said.

King Shersingh saw they were perplexed and said, “Cheeku has just informed me that my helpers could not come, but that both of you will prepare the feast for us.”

When Jumpy and Blacky looked towards the gate, they saw Cheeku and his friends giggling as they walked away.

Because they were afraid of King Shersingh, who was watching them, they began cooking. Jumpy chopped all the veggies and fruits, while Blacky ground spices and prepared different juices.

Finally, the grand feast was ready, and animals started coming to wish the King a happy birthday.

“What a lovely feast!” praised everyone.

“It’s all thanks to the cooks, Jumpy and Blacky,” praised King Shersingh.

Jumpy tasted the food and exclaimed, “This food tastes good!”

Blacky said, “It’s yummy!”

Cheeku came to them and said, “The feast tastes good because of your hard work.”

“Funny how tricks can sometimes turn around, isn’t it?” said Nancy, smiling.

Jumpy scratched his head and asked “You mean we should stop tricking everyone?”

Cheeku nodded. “Exactly! If you work like everyone else, you will have tasty food without tricking anyone.”

“Tricking is too much work!” said Blacky.

“Acting too!” said Jumpy, agreeing.

From that day on, the two friends changed for the better. Jumpy climbed trees for fruits, and Blacky plucked berries. They even shared their food with their friends. All the animals in Champakvan breathed a sigh of relief.

FIND WORDS

3

The three threats to corals are hidden in the image below. Find them.

*Answer on the last page.

HOW MANY OF THESE PAIRS CAN YOU FIND?

PUN TIME

What do you give a sick lemon?
Lemon aid!

WOW!

Math Scavenger Hunt

Read the instructions and find the objects around your house.

1. Find something that's square.

2. Name something that is shaped like a sphere.

3. Find cube-shaped objects around you.

4. Find something that comes in pairs.

5. Count the number of tiles in your house.

6. Find something longer than your feet.

WORD SEARCH

Find words related to the beach in the grid below.

C	E	R	T	S	U	I	O	P	L	F
D	E	F	T	H	S	W	S	U	A	I
I	W	A	V	E	S	T	A	U	O	S
V	O	R	P	O	I	U	N	T	L	H
B	G	Q	C	R	A	B	D	U	I	I
S	W	Y	T	I	U	C	C	D	F	N
V	O	L	L	E	Y	B	A	L	L	G
E	R	N	T	Y	N	D	S	M	J	K
T	U	Y	U	I	O	T	T	S	P	L
S	W	I	M	E	R	T	L	U	I	O
G	H	J	K	L	S	H	E	L	L	S

Brain Train

Cross out the odd word. Then, add one more.

Blue

Pink

Park

Black

German

Russia

Scotland

England

Orange

Potato

Kiwi

Pineapple

Fridge

Sofa

Bed

Car

She

He

Them

Plug

Skirt

Kurta

Bedsheet

Pants

Find the Pairs

* Answer on the last page.

Clean Up the Ocean

On June 8, World Oceans Day, find the items that don't belong in the ocean.

ANIMAL TRACKER

Match the footprint with the animal.

1

2

3

4

5

A

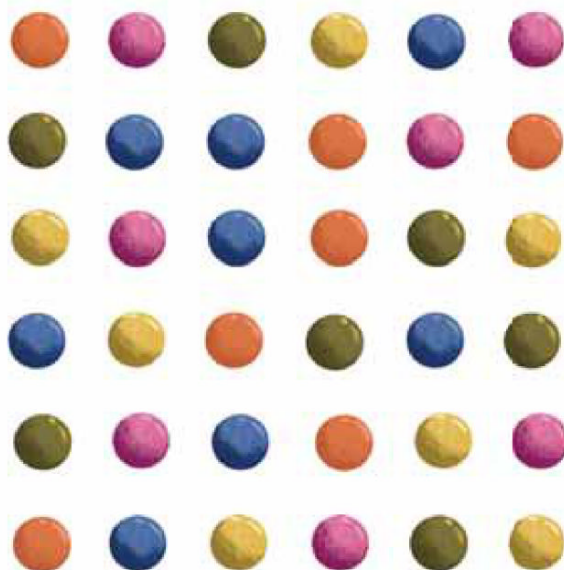

B

C

D

E

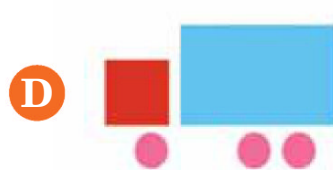

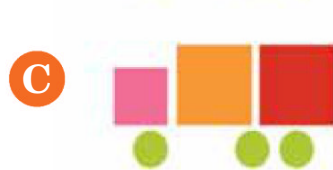

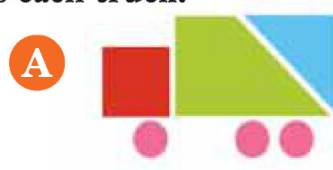

DRAW AS DIRECTED

*Answer on the last page.

MATCH IT

Find the set of shapes that matches each truck.

*Answer on the last page.

HAHA

PUN TIME

What did the digital clock say to the grandfather clock?
Look, Grandpa! No hands!

Why was O so tired?
Because it had been going around in circles all day!

Why was the cell phone scared of the dentist?
It didn't want to lose its Bluetooth!

CONNECT as SHOWN

Connect the travel items in each box as shown without intersecting the lines.

PUN TIME

Why did the banker quit her job?
She lost interest!

Solve it

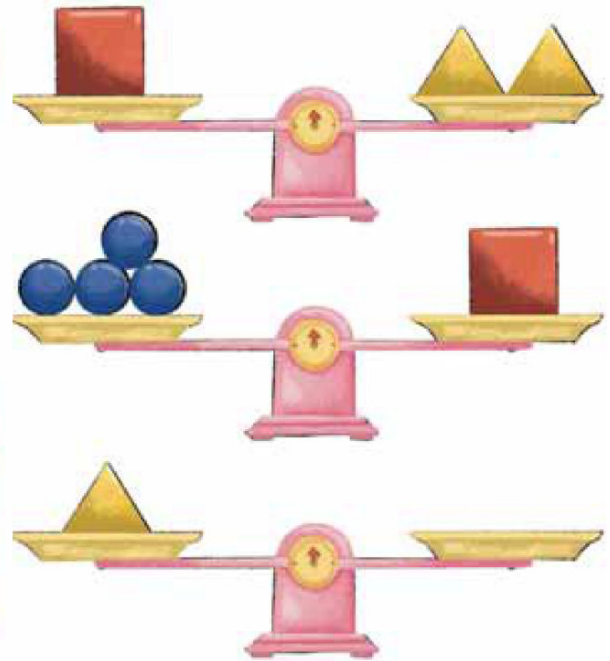

Riddhima has ₹500 with her. She bought 5 loaves of bread, 2 croissants and 1 blueberry cheesecake. How much change will she get back?

*Answer on the last page.

MATH MINDS

Look at the illustration below and find the answer.

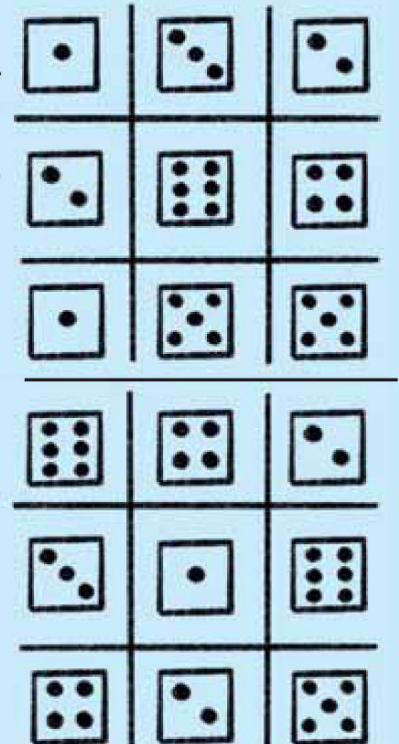

ROLL-A-DIE

In this two-player game:

1. Pick 'X' or 'O'.
2. Roll a die.
3. Put 'X' or 'O' on the number you roll.

The first to get three in a row wins.

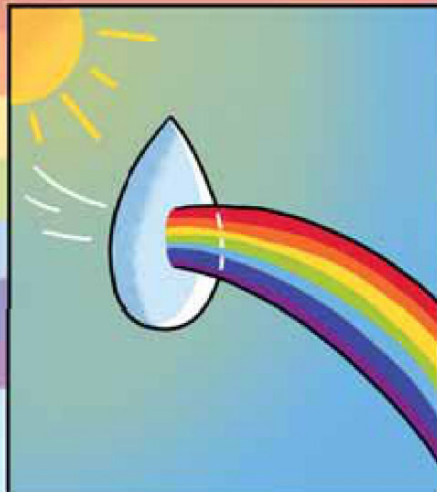

SEQUENCE

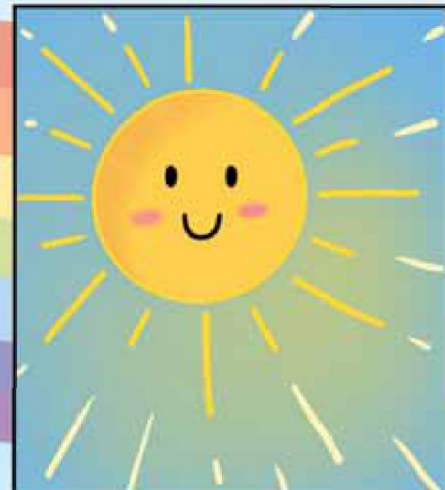

Arrange the images in sequence to find out how rainbows are formed.

Millions of tiny water droplets float in the air after it rains.

Raindrops bend and bounce sunlight, separating it into all the colours of the rainbow.

Bright sunlight travels, but its path can be bent by air or water. Sunlight is white light.

FIND THE SIDE VIEW

*Answer on the last page.

WHAT MIGHT YOU FIND...

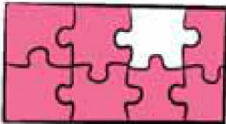

Play this two-player game by answering each question within 10 seconds.
To start, roll the dice. The player with the highest number goes first.

Find the missing piece.

1.

2.

3.

4.

PUN TIME

Did you get that joke about the ceiling?

Me neither. It was over my head.

Why could the pirate never learn the letter 'D'?

Because he always got lost at C.

WOW!

What kind of dog does a magician have?

A Labracadabrador!

What do you call a huge pile of cats?

A meow-ntain!

*Answer on the last page.

CARING FOR THE ENVIRONMENT

June 5 is World Environment Day. Cross out actions that harm the environment in each row.

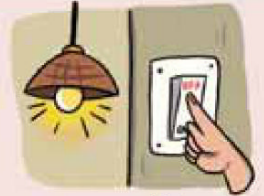

Fix water leaks

Share rides

Throw plastic in the ocean

Turn off lights
when not in use

Cut trees

Choose to walk

Compost

Recycle

Reuse bags

Don't litter

Save water

Throw your leftovers

WORDY WORTHY

Guess the common words and phrases that are hidden below.

LOOK
uleap

1

HEADACHE

2

R
O
R
O
A
D
S
D
S

3

RUNNING
RUNNING
RUNNING
RUNNING
RUNNING
RUNNING
RUNNING
RUNNING

4

COVER working

5

Dance
Dance
Dance
Dance
Dance

6

* Answer on the last page.

LISTEN UP, EVERYONE! STAY ALERT!

WHAT HAPPENED?

A FOX FROM THE NEIGHBOURING FOREST HAS BEEN COMING HERE AND SNATCHING AWAY OUR FRIENDS.

THAT FOX HAS SOME NERVE! I'LL PULL HIS TONGUE OUT!

YES AND I'LL PULL HIS TAIL!

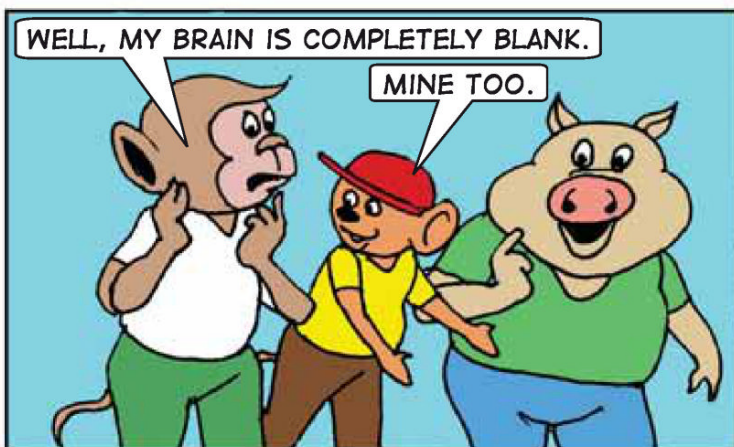

THIS IS NO TIME FOR JOKES. WE NEED TO DO SOMETHING PRACTICAL.

BUT, HOW ARE WE GOING TO FIGHT A FOX?

STRENGTH LIES IN UNITY. IF WE USE OUR WITS, WE CAN DEFEAT EVEN A FOX.

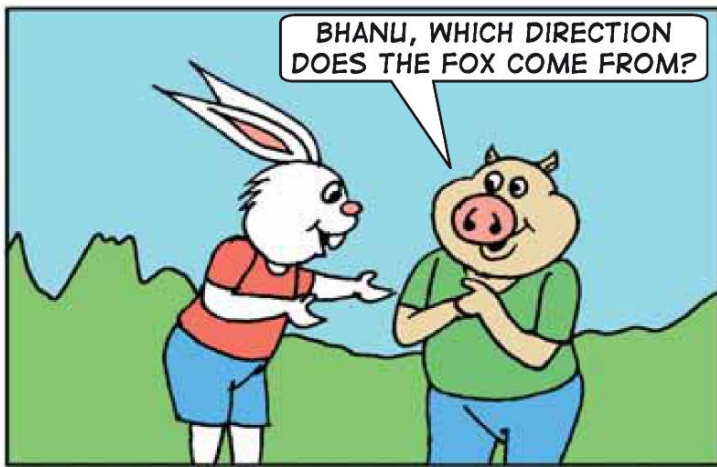

WELL, MY BRAIN IS COMPLETELY BLANK.

MINE TOO.

I'VE GOT IT! EVERYONE, GET READY!

WE'RE READY!

The Cartoonist

Ammie Vora

On the first Sunday of summer vacation, Mia, Tanishk and Prisha had an important ritual. They would wait at Mia's house for a special delivery—the newest issue of their favourite comic book: Galatia Woman.

It was about an intergalactic superheroine who fought an evil villain: Gargon, the dictator.

True to tradition, the three friends sat in front of Mia's door that Sunday. Tanishk bounced his knee nervously. Mia checked the doorbell four times. Prisha paced the living room like a guard on duty.

It was past eleven, and the delivery should have arrived by then.

At last, the bell rang.

They quickly greeted Postman Chacha and grabbed the envelopes from his hand. Mia browsed through and found a letter from the publisher of the comic.

Mia read, "Dear readers, we're sorry to inform you that the comic series, Galatia Woman, has been discontinued."

All three of them looked up in horror. Their favourite comic, which they had been reading since they were eight, had been cancelled.

It took them a few days to register the fact that they would never be able to hold the comic, let alone read it, ever again. After three days of moping around, their parents forced them out to play.

But even while playing, all they would think about was the comic: What if Galatia will never be able to escape Gargon's prison? Even if she does, how will she fight his monster army all by herself? How are we going to spend our summers without Galatia?

Losing the comic felt like losing a part of themselves. They couldn't sit around and do nothing.

The next morning, they decided to find the writer.

They found a fan-mail address printed inside the comics, and Prisha convinced her older sister to drive them.

They arrived at the address, and the kids went up to the bungalow alone. They rang the bell and waited.

Just then, the door opened to a girl, slightly older than them. She had ink stains on her fingers, and a permanent scorn plastered on her face.

“Yes?” she said, eyeing the three kids.

Mia held up the comic. “Um, we’re looking for the writer of this comic ... Ms. Lekha?”

The girl blinked. “That’s me.”

“You?!” The three kids stared, their mouths open.

“Yes, me,” she muttered. “How can I help?”

“We’re sorry to come here unannounced. But why was the comic cancelled?” Mia asked seriously.

Instead of an answer, Lekha invited them in. She led them to her room. The walls were filled with drawings of alien planets, strange creatures and all the characters from the comic.

Lekha stood awkwardly against a study table. The kids waited, but Tanishk couldn’t hold it in any longer.

“Look, we have been waiting the entire school year for this. Can you first just tell us what happens next?” he blurted out, pointing towards her study table.

On top, there was a drawing book, some ink pens and bottles.

Lekha took a deep sigh. “I cannot tell you that because I’m stuck.”

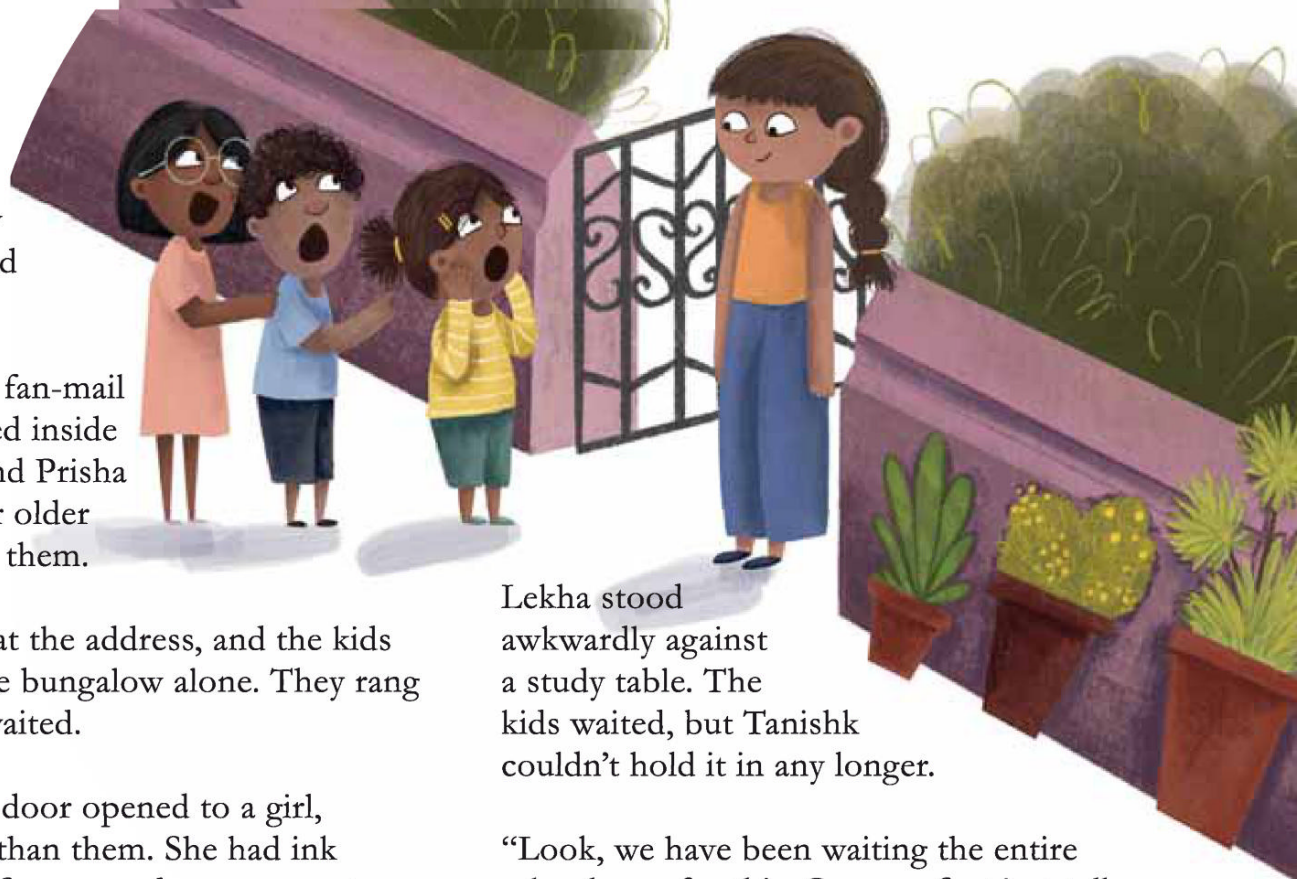

She reluctantly opened a book. There was a drawing of Gargon smirking at a trapped Galatia Woman, but the rest of the page was empty.

“I can’t think of what happens next,” Lekha continued. “I’ve been staring at this page for months.”

“Wait, is that why the comic is cancelled? Because you are stuck?” Prisha questioned.

Lekha nodded sheepishly.

The trio looked at each other. “Maybe we can help.”

Before Lekha could object, Tanishk had already grabbed a mop and held it like a laser sword. “I’ll be Gargon! And Prisha, you be Galatia Woman.”

Prisha quickly hid behind a room divider.

“Hahaha! How will you escape this time?” Tanishk bellowed like a villain.

“You can’t hold me here forever. I have my sonar breaths to break the bars.” Prisha said, pretending to use her powers.

“Or what if she uses her telekinesis to push Gargon out of the way and escape,” wondered Mia.

Tanishk pretended to be knocked down on the bed by an invisible force.

THWACK!

The others burst out in laughter, but

Lekha shook her head.

“The special jail cancels out all her powers,” Lekha said seriously.

Over the next few hours, the kids enacted different scenarios, but Lekha rejected all of them; they weren’t logical enough. She couldn’t help laughing at their antics though. She had to admit; it was fun to write the comic with friends.

“What about Nitro Girl. Galatia Woman had helped her once, maybe—” Mia asked, deep in thought.

“No, Galatia Woman doesn’t need help. That’s what makes her the most powerful.” Lekha said, slightly irritated.

“I can’t even imagine stepping out of my house without my friends,” Prisha said.

“Yeah, if it wasn’t for the girls, I would never have read Galatia Woman,” Tanishk chimed in.

Mia shrugged too. “Everyone needs a saviour, a friend or someone to rely on.”

“I ... never had any friends. That’s why I wanted Galatia Woman to be powerful enough to never need help,” Lekha said weakly.

A sudden, loud ringtone startled them. It was Mia’s mother calling. The trio panicked when her mother’s voice boomed loudly, “Where are you kids? Do you know what time it is?!”

Before Mia could reply, Lekha took the phone. “Hello, I’m Lekha, a friend of Mia’s. I called them over to play, but we got carried away. Don’t worry, my parents can drop them safely.”

To the trio’s surprise, Mia’s mother agreed and thanked her. While leaving, they hugged Lekha.

“I’m sorry we weren’t much help, but I’m glad we met,” Mia said.

“And thanks for the help with my mom,” Mia chimed.

“Or else we’d also be trapped like Galatia Woman,” Tanishk commented.

Lekha chuckled and hugged them back. After they were gone, she stared at the incomplete comic page. Suddenly, an idea hit her. She picked up her phone and dialled the publisher’s number.

A week later, force of habit got the trio back at Mia’s place. It wasn’t even ten when the doorbell rang. There was a special delivery for them.

The brand-new issue of Galatia Woman!

The friends rejoiced and started reading. To their surprise, when they got to the page Lekha was stuck on, there stood three new characters. Sir Tanishk and Ladies Mia and Prisha, knights of Galatia.

They helped Galatia Woman escape. The knights and her thrashed Gargon’s army and won the battle. The kids took in every detail of the issue, fascinated by the line art and the colours.

Later, they found a handwritten letter inside. The letter read,

“You were right, Galatia Woman needed a saviour, just like me. It would be an honour to continue writing the series with my new friends: the knights of Galatia. From Lekha.”

Complete the Picture

Parts of this image have been left blank. Look at the picture, complete it and then colour it.

Passport Cover

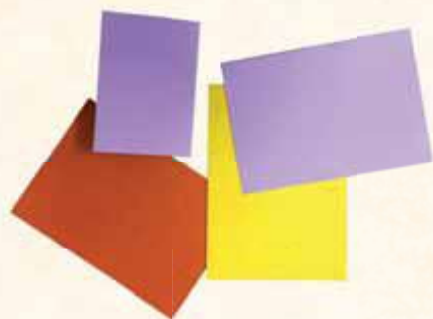

By Shraddha A Pethe (Instagram: Handmade by Shradz)

SMART

YOU WILL NEED:

Colourful A4 size felt sheets, card paper, pencil, scale, glue, scissors and decoration material

HOW TO DO:

- 1 Fold and cut a card paper in half. Do the same for the felt paper.

- 2 Paste the felt sheet to the card paper and fold in half. Cut small strips of felt paper and chamfer one end. Paste the other end to the back flap.

- 3 Cut small shapes like flowers, butterflies, etc. as per your choice and paste it on the passport cover.

- 4 Paste the chamfered side of the strip to the front of the flap. Decorate the passport cover as per your choice.

Your passport covers are ready!

Make it yourself at home.

Click a picture of your creations. Send it to us at writetochampak@delhipress.in or WhatsApp it to us at +91 7042531377.

DADAJI
AND WORLD
ENVIRONMENT
DAY

Vivek Chakravarty

RIYA AND RAHUL ARE PLANTING SAPLINGS WITH DADAJI.

DADAJI, YOU WERE SUPPOSED TO HELP US PREPARE FOR THE PLAY FOR WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY ON JUNE 5. THEN, WHY ARE WE PLANTING SAPLINGS?

WE ARE PREPARING FOR THE PLAY.

HOW, DADAJI?

LOOK, IN THE PLAY, FIRST PEOPLE WILL SHOW THAT THEY ARE TROUBLED BY THE CHANGES IN THE ENVIRONMENT.

LIKE I AM TROUBLED BY THIS HEAT.

THEN, THEY START TO FIND WAYS TO IMPROVE THE ENVIRONMENT.

LIKE STOPPING THE USE OF POLYTHENE BAGS, CONSERVING WATER AND ENERGY AND PLANTING TREES, LIKE WE ARE DOING.

THEN, THEY WILL SHOW HOW THEY TAKE CARE OF THOSE PLANTS.

THEN, THE PLANTS WILL GROW BIG AND THE ENVIRONMENT WILL BECOME BETTER.

RAHUL, SHOWING HOW WE TAKE CARE OF THOSE PLANTS IS ALSO IMPORTANT.

SO, THE NEXT SCENE WILL SHOW HOW TO WATER PLANTS AND KEEP THE AREA CLEAN.

FOR THAT SCENE, I'LL COLLECT DRY LEAVES AND BRANCHES RIGHT NOW.

AND I'LL GET THE WATERING CAN.

GOOD! IN THE NEXT SCENE, YOU CAN SHOW THAT THE PLANTS HAVE GROWN.

YES, AND IN THE END, THERE WILL BE LOTS OF GREENERY, WHICH WILL HELP IMPROVE THE ENVIRONMENT.

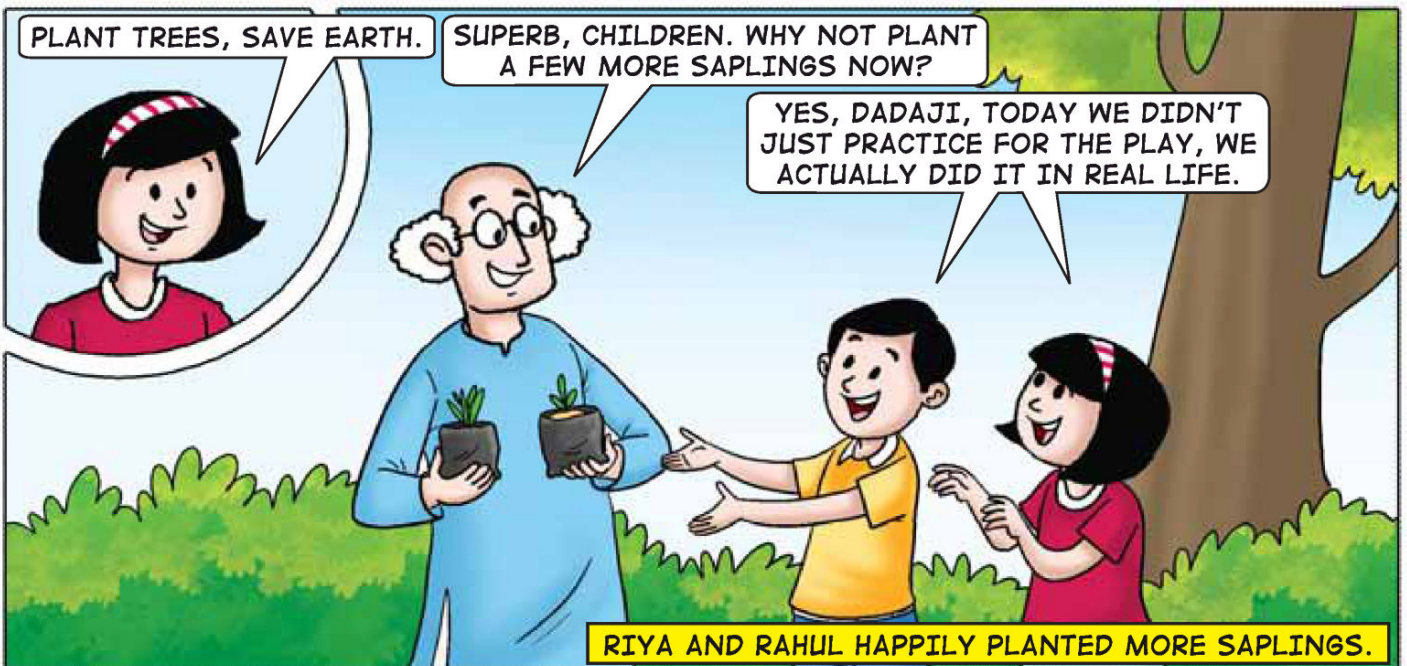

THEN WE SAY, "IF THE ENVIRONMENT IS NOT SAFE, WE ARE NOT SAFE."

PLANT TREES, SAVE EARTH.

SUPERB, CHILDREN. WHY NOT PLANT A FEW MORE SAPLINGS NOW?

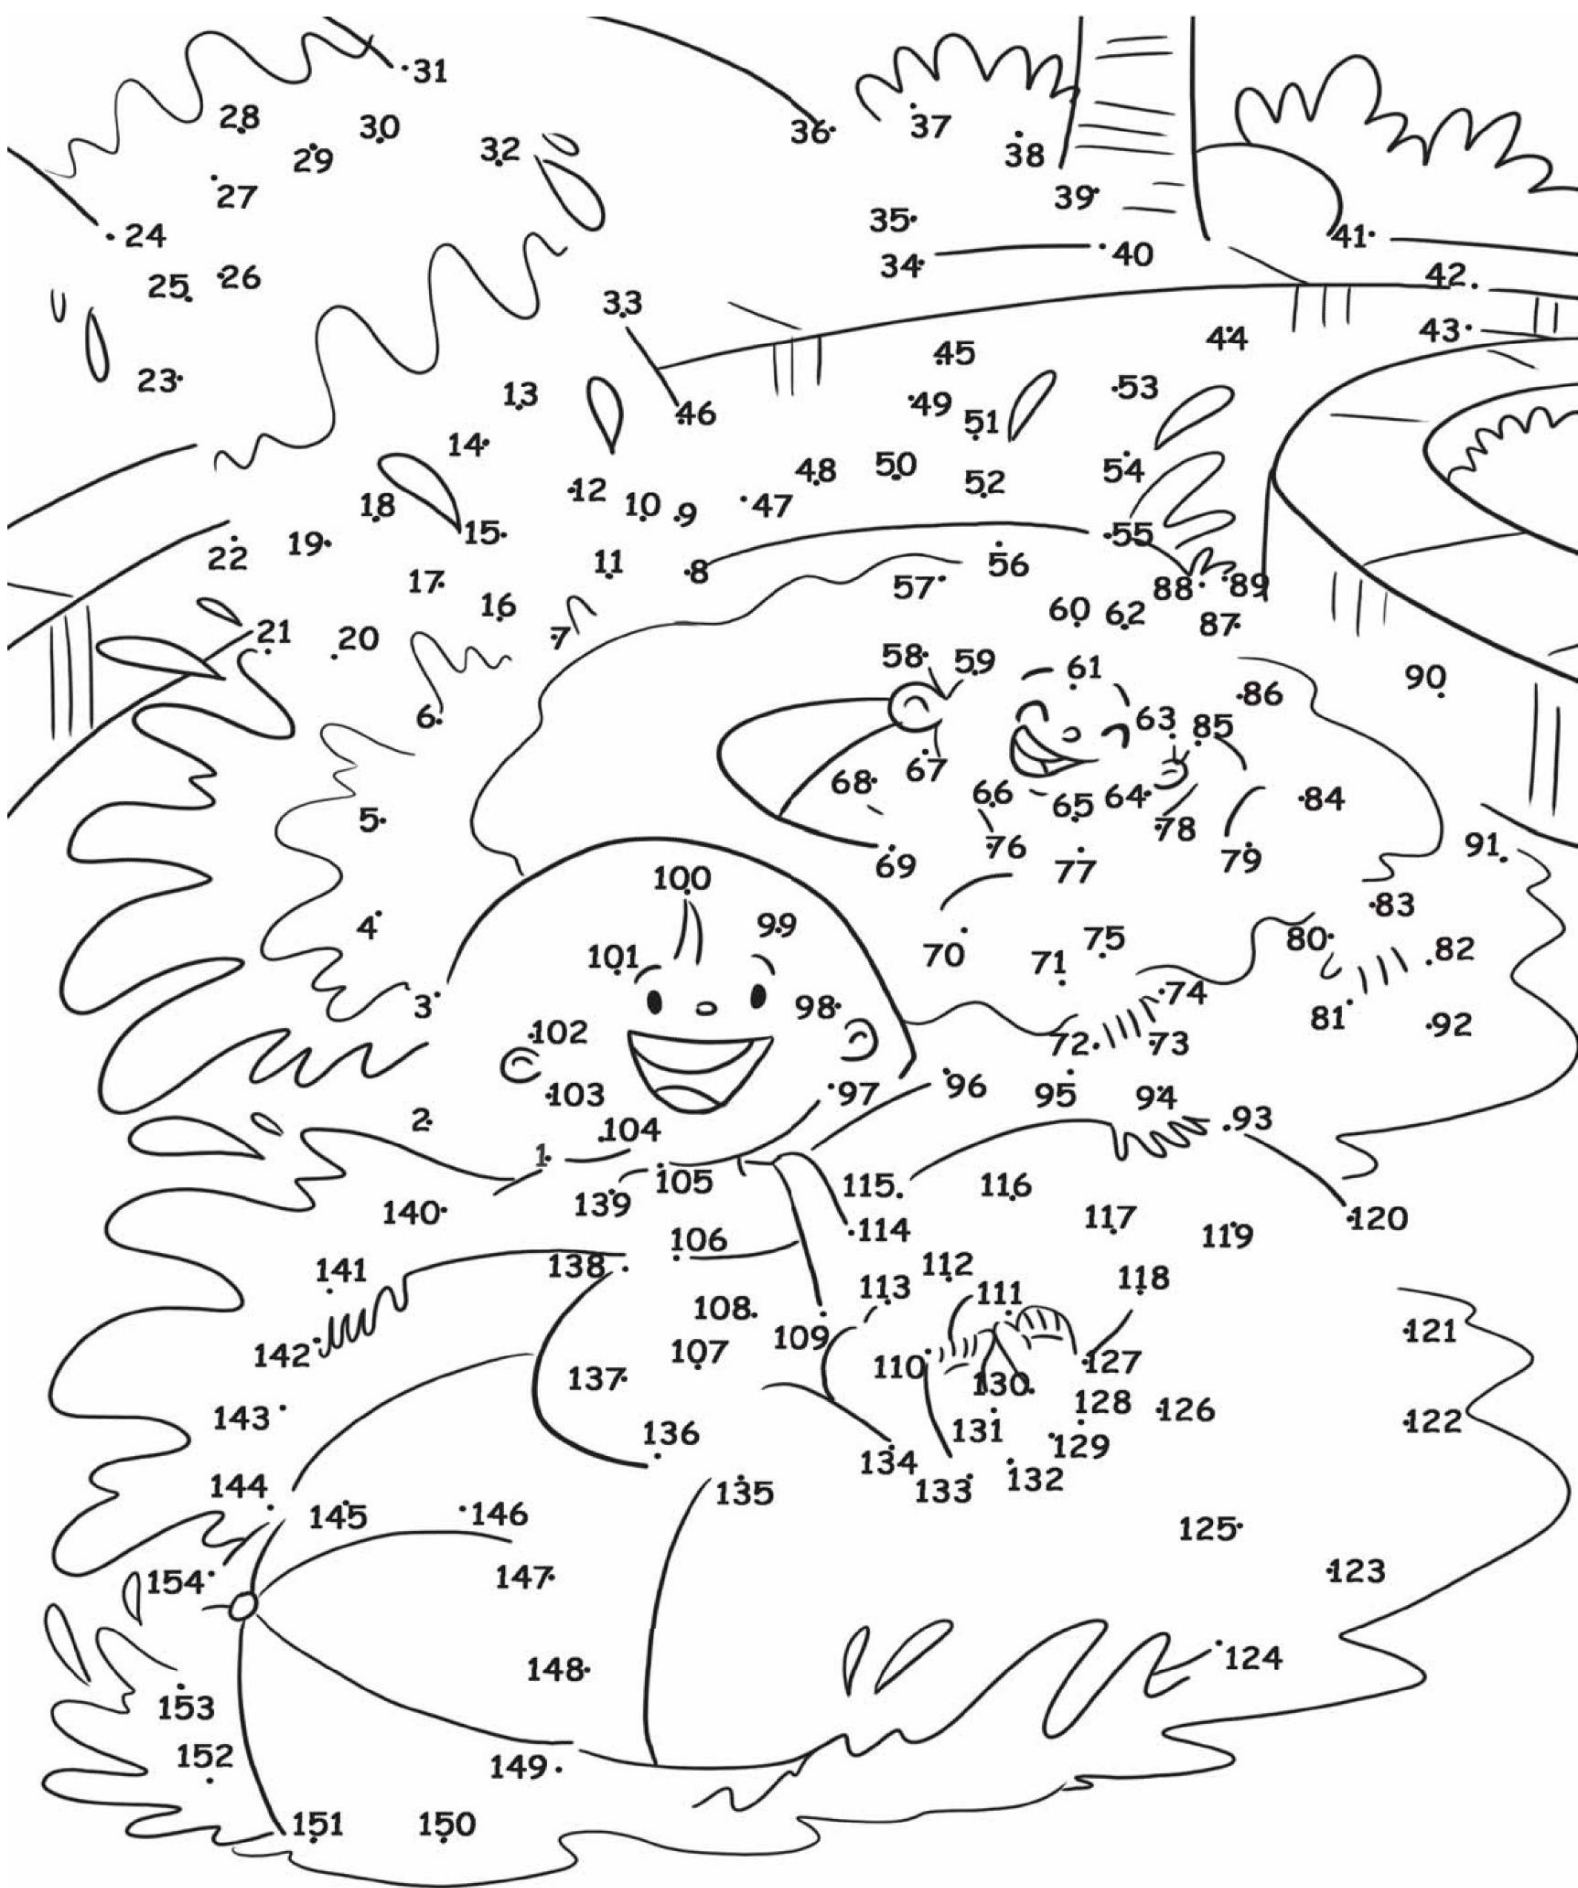

YES, DADAJI, TODAY WE DIDN'T JUST PRACTICE FOR THE PLAY, WE ACTUALLY DID IT IN REAL LIFE.

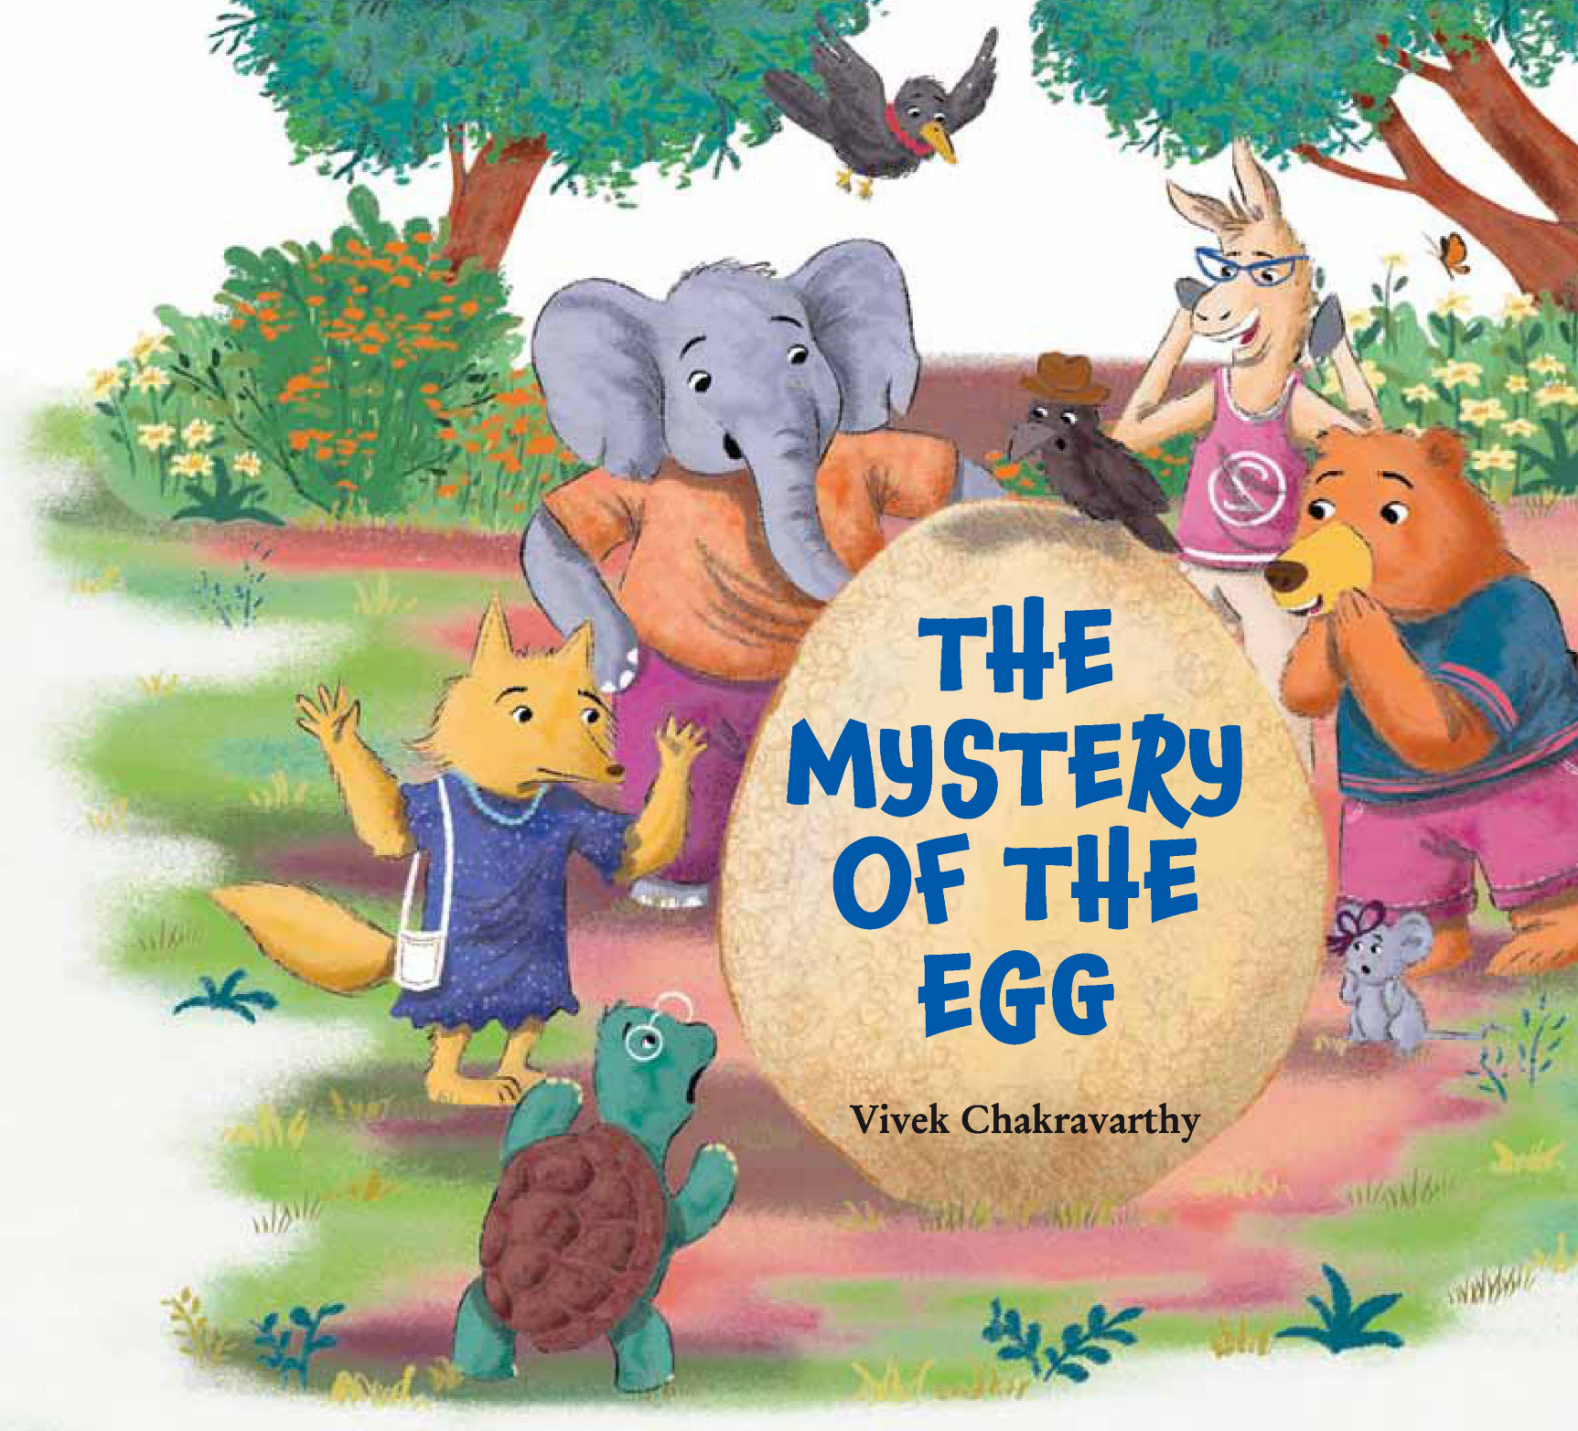

RIYA AND RAHUL HAPPILY PLANTED MORE SAPLINGS.

Dot to Dot

Join the dots according to the numbers and complete the picture.

Early in the morning, Mimi Mouse stepped out of her house. When she glanced at the park in front of her, her eyes widened in surprise.

“Oh! What is this someone has built in the middle of the park?” Mimi muttered and walked closer to take a look.

Soon, some other forest animals also gathered there.

“Mimi, who has built this round house in the park?” Tania Fox asked.

“I do not know,” Mimi replied. “I am seeing it for the first time as well.”

“Have you built this house, Mimi?” Bobo Bear asked suspiciously.

“What a foolish thought, Bobo! Why would I build such a big house in the park?” Mimi questioned.

Gajju stepped forward to break it, but just then Kuhu Koel shouted loudly.

“Stop! What you all think is a house is actually an egg,” she said.

Everyone was shocked.

“An egg?” Mimi said, touching it. “What are you saying, Kuhu? How can an egg be so large?”

“I saw it while flying in the sky. It is definitely an egg,” Kuhu said.

Some other birds also supported her.

“But whose egg is it?” someone asked.

“No bird lays such a large egg,” Smarty said.

“It could be an ostrich egg,” Bobo suggested.

“No, ostrich eggs are not this large,” Gajju remarked.

“How do you know?” Bobo asked irritably. “Have you seen one?”

Both of them began arguing.

“Calm down! I have called Kavi and Coco Uncle. They might know something,” Mimi said, putting her mobile phone back into her pocket.

After some time, Kavi Crow arrived with Everyone fell into deep thought.

“Perhaps the King had it built. Only he can get all that work done overnight,” Gajju Elephant said thoughtfully.

“If the King has done this, we will protest against him,” Smarty Donkey said confidently.

Just then, King Leo arrived there.

“Will you not leave any place empty? Who has built this in the middle of the park?” the King asked.

“We thought it was you who had it built,” replied Gajju.

“Why would we construct anything in the park? Whoever has done this, needs to demolish it,” ordered the King.

Coco Tortoise.

"This is not an ostrich egg. Ostrich eggs are not this big," Coco said after examining it carefully.

"Then, whose egg is it," Tania asked.

"It is my egg," Joey Jackal said as he arrived there.

"Your egg? Since when do you lay eggs?" Mimi asked in surprise.

"I bought it and was carrying it in my bag when it fell down," Joey replied.

Everyone looked at each other, amused.

"All right! Go and take your egg," Gajju said sarcastically.

"But, where is the egg?" Joey asked, confused.

"The object you are leaning against is your egg," Bobo said, laughing.

"Yes, it seems the egg was small earlier, but it became bigger after falling out of your bag," Mimi added sarcastically.

Feeling embarrassed, Joey ran away.

"Let us stop joking and figure out whose egg this is," Smarty said.

June (First) 2026

"It is a dinosaur egg," Coco said after thinking deeply.

"A dinosaur egg? But, how is that possible? Dinosaurs became extinct millions of years ago," said Kavi.

"Perhaps, this egg was buried inside the earth and has come out now," Coco said.

Hearing this, everyone became frightened.

"I have heard dinosaurs were very dangerous. If one hatches, it could destroy the forest," Tania said nervously.

"We should roll it into the sea," King Leo said.

Gajju, Bobo and some other large animals began pushing the egg.

Just then, Kuhu shouted loudly, "Run for your lives! The egg is about to hatch. I can see something like spikes coming out from inside."

"Kuhu, are you sure you saw spikes?" Kavi asked thoughtfully.

"I am too scared to go near it. So, I am watching from a distance, but I can see something like spikes," Kuhu said.

By now, all the animals had moved far away and were waiting anxiously.

"There is no need to worry," Kavi said.
"This is not an egg."

"Not an egg? But, Kuhu said it is an egg," the King said.

"Your Majesty, this is not a real egg. It is a fake egg. A large egg company was carrying it by helicopter for promotion on Egg Day. The chain attached to it broke, and the fibre egg fell here. What Kuhu thought were spikes were actually broken pieces of the chain," Kavi explained.

"Kuhu, you frightened us for no reason," Gajju said angrily.

"No, we should thank Kuhu," Kavi said.
"Because of her, I became curious about the egg and searched on the internet. That is how I found out the truth."

"What should we do now?" the King asked. "If it stays here, no one will be able to play."

"There is no need to worry. The company's website says they will be here soon to take it back. Until then, anyone can take a selfie with it," Kavi said while taking a selfie.

Hearing this, all the animals ran home to bring their phones to take a selfie with the mysterious egg.

Marvellous Aunt Maneka

Aunt Maneka is an environmentalist and an animal lover. She is here to answer all your questions on animals and birds so that you can take care of the animals around you and be a better friend of nature.

Animals are residents of our planet, as much as we are. When we respect them by not killing or eating them or using their body parts, we show respect to our planet and nature. The animals we keep as pets are totally dependent on us, and they must be loved and kept with dignity like we would keep our brothers and sisters. Do not keep birds and fish as pets; it is not good to cage them and make them miserable.

Maneka Sanjay Gandhi

In my society, many pigeons sit on the lawn. I ask my mom if I can feed them. She says 'no'. But isn't it a kind act?

Adviti N., 7 years, Bengaluru

You should feed pigeons every day. Pigeons are friends of humans. They are completely dependent on human food because they have evolved to be city birds. I put baskets for pigeons to nest in all around my house.

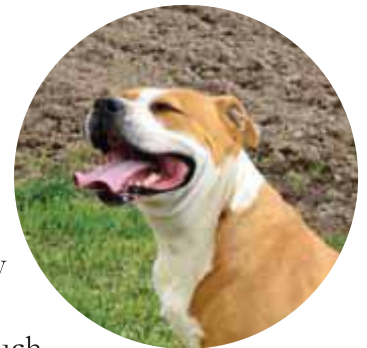

All children naturally love animals. Loving and serving all creatures with kindness simply makes you happier. And the purpose of life is to be happy. It is not buying things and being the smartest person in class or having more money that makes you happy. It is only kindness.

Why are street dogs always barking, even when we give them food and water? Is it a natural phenomenon or just memory issues?

Devesh Bansal, 10 years, Haryana

Barking is talking. Some of them bark to welcome you. Some bark to thank you for the food. Some bark to tell you they are hungry and need help. Some bark to tell you how much they love you. Some bark late at night to communicate with other dogs and exchange news. They have a proper language. It is different to ours. They probably want to know why we talk so much!

If you have questions about pets/animals/birds, write to us and we'll ask Aunt Maneka to answer.

 writetochampak@delhipress.in

 +91 7042531377

From YOUNG Readers

My Journey Box

My journey box, always clean,
Always a journey to be seen
With edges sharp and spirit keen,
A gateway to the worlds between.
It holds the sights of which I have dreamed,
The quiet spaces where I have leaned.
From mountain peaks to deep ravines,
The finest places I have seen.
A journey going through deep and wide,
A whole new world to be discovered inside,
Where adventures grow, and journeys glide,
Let's explore a whole new ride.
A journey appears, every single day,
From scary sights to lots of play,
Colours await me, from red to grey,
Everything is pleasant, throughout the way.

Naitik Gupta

9 years, Pune

Tanush Balmiki

10 years, Indore

Advaita Bansal

8 years, Noida

Aarohi Bansal

5 years, Noida

Summer is Coming

Summer is coming
Everything is hot
Everything is boiling
Like the tea-pot.
I will drink a fruit juice
Orange, lemon, grape
My dress will be loose
Of a baggy shape.
I will jump, splash,
In the swimming pool
My summer bash
Will be really cool!

Sylvanna Paul

8 years, Kolkata

We suggested, you made!

Spilt Drink Prank Art
April I, 2026 issue
by our reader,
Khushi Chugh
6 years, Mumbai

Scan to send us jokes, riddles, drawings or stories with your full name, age or post it to:
Delhi Press

703, B Wing, INS Tower, Opp. Trident Hotel,
G Block, BKC, Bandra (East) Mumbai-400 051.

✉ writetochampak@delhipress.in ☎ 7042531377

📘 facebook.com/ChampakMagazine

📺 youtube.com/ChampakWorld

We cannot return your work, so you might want to keep a copy.

Spot the Difference

Circle 10 differences you can find between the two pictures.

Us and Them

Buzz, buzz, buzz! These tiny yellow-and-brown striped creatures zoom from flower to flower all day long. They have short, thick bodies covered with hair, two pairs of wings, six legs and five eyes. You might think bees are just busy collecting nectar all day, but there's much more going on inside their little heads! Much like humans, bees possess a remarkable level of self-awareness, meaning that they are aware that they are bees, which not all insects are intelligent enough to know.

Think about when you look into the mirror in the morning. You know that the person smiling back is you, not another child. You also understand your place in your family, your classroom or your cricket team. Believe it or not, these tiny insects do something very similar.

Scientific studies suggest that bees can recognise their own fuzzy bodies and can even tell when they have made a mistake.

Just like you might realise that you are too tall to crawl under a table, a bee that tries to fit into a gap that is too small realises its own size and backs up to try a different way. Bees also display individual personalities—some prefer staying close to the hive, while others enjoy exploring farther away.

Bees are found all over the world except for Antarctica!

Answers to Puzzles

Page 9:

Picnic Panic

LEAVE
US SOME CRUMBS

Page 12:

Zipping
Zebra

A - 3, B - 1,
C - 4, D - 2

Page 17:

Hidden Picture

Page 25: Word Search

C	E	R	T	S	U	I	O	P	L	F
D	E	F	T	H	S	W	S	U	A	I
I	W	A	V	E	S	T	A	U	O	S
V	O	R	P	O	I	U	N	T	L	H
B	G	Q	C	R	A	B	D	U	I	I
S	T	U	N	O	C	O	C	D	F	N
V	O	L	L	E	Y	B	A	L	L	G
E	R	N	T	Y	N	D	S	M	J	K
T	U	Y	U	I	O	T	T	S	P	L
S	W	I	M	E	R	T	L	U	I	O
G	H	J	K	L	S	H	E	L	L	S

Page 24: Find 3 Words
pollution, anchors, plastic

How many of these pairs can you find?

Find the Pairs

Brain Train

Page 26:

Animal Tracker

1 - E, 2 - D,
3 - B, 4 - A, 5 - C

Page 27:

Match It

1 - D, 2 - A,
3 - B, 4 - A

Page 28:

Solve it - ₹50

Math Minds
Two blue balls

Page 29:

Find
the side
view - 4

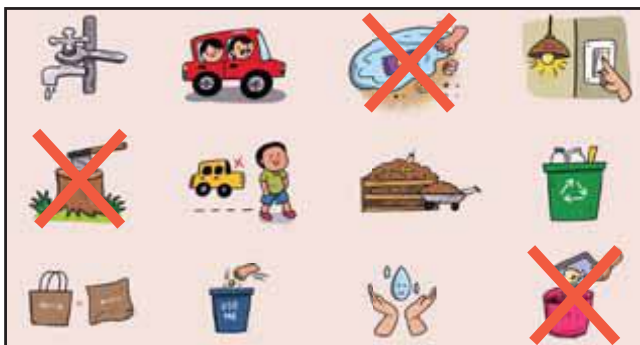

Page 30:

Find the missing piece

1 - D, 2 - C,
3 - B, 4 - D

Page 31:

Caring for the Environment

Wordy Worthy

1. Look before you leap
2. Splitting headache
3. Crossroads
4. Running in circles
5. Working undercover
6. Square dance

Some things in this picture are not right. Find out what they are.

भारतीय विमानपत्तन प्राधिकरण
AIRPORTS AUTHORITY OF INDIA

भा.वि.प्रा के साथ अत्याधुनिक विमानन सेवाओं एवं सुविधाओं का अनुभव

सूरत अंतरराष्ट्रीय हवाई अड्डा, गुजरात

देशभर में 135 हवाई अड्डों का प्रचालन

जोधपुर, विजयवाड़ा, गोवा, बेलगावि, राजमुंद्री,
हवेल्ली, कडपा, वाराणसी, आगरा, दरभंगा,
बागडोगरा एवं बिहट में नए हवाई अड्डे निर्माणाधीन

स्वास्थ्य, कौशल विकास और सामाजिक उत्थान में
सीएसआर की अभूतपूर्व उपलब्धि

40 उड़ान प्रशिक्षण संगठन (एफटीओ)
प्रचालित

67 भा.वि.प्रा हवाई अड्डों में 59.2 मेगावाट से अधिक
संचयी क्षमता वाले सौर संयंत्र का प्रतिस्थापन

93 भा.वि.प्रा हवाई अड्डे पूर्ण रूप से नवीकरणीय ऊर्जा से संचालित

'आत्मनिर्भर भारत' को सशक्त बनाने के लिए
स्वदेशी हवाई यातायात प्रबंधन स्वचालन प्रणाली
(एटीएमएस) का विकास

स्वयं सहायता समूहों को सुदृढ़ करने के लिए
20 हवाई अड्डों पर 'अवसर' (AVSAR) आउटलेट

योजना

विकास

प्रचालन

प्रबंधन

दिवचालन

वेबसाइट : www.aai.aero

@AAI_Official

AirportsAuthorityOfIndiaOfficial

@aaiofficial

Airports Authority of India

